NEW NAZI ARMY TO RUMANIA!

Reveals Another Roosevelt 'Dictator Move'

M'CARRAN RIPS SCHEME TO GET GREATER POWER

Fires Opening Gun in Senate Fight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], today fired the first gun in congress against reported plans of President Roosevelt to renew his request for authority to reorganize the federal government along authoritarian lines.

Senator McCarran.

Senator McCarran said he had been advised that Mr. Roosevelt would seek not only to extend his powers under the limited government reorganization act of 1939, which expires next Jan. 21, but also to bring the independent regulatory agencies and commissions under executive domination. The Nevada senator declared that any such move would be subversive to the democratic process.

Bill Killed in 1938.

President Roosevelt sought to bring the independent, quasi-judicial, and quasi-legislaitve agencies under his control when he asked congress early in 1937 for dictatorial authority to reorganize the federal government. The first so-called dictatorship bill was killed by the house of representatives in 1938, but in 1939 congress passed a bill giving the President limited power to transfer, consolidate, and abolish executive bureaus and agencies.

This law, however, specifically excluded such independent agencies as the Federal Trade commission the Interstate Commerce commission, the Civil Service commission, and the general accounting office, which acts as the congressional watchdog in controling the nation's purse strings and seeing that funds are disbursed only in pursuance of law.

Veto Spurs Opposition.

Opposition to the President's desire for authority over the independent regulatory commissions was intensified by his veto of the Walter-Logan bill, which was intended to facilitate judicial review of the regulations and orders of these agencies and halt what the bill's sponsors termed "the drift to totalitarianism."

Congress itself created these agencies, which write much of their own law and then, acting as complainant, prosecutor, judge, and jury, proceed to enforce it. The action of congress in passing the Walter-Logan bill was regarded as an effort to recapture some of its constitutional authority from an executive branch which, in the name of emergency, has greatly aggrandized itself in recent years.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky has indicated that a request for extension of the existing government reorganization law would be forthcoming in the next session. Senator McCarran said he had received emphatic reports of a move to extend the President's domination to the independent regulatory agencies.

Responsible to Congress.

"These agncies," McCarran said, "were created by congress to represent congress and be responsible to it. Any reorganization that assumes to destroy this principle will be another step in taking from the people the power to govern themselves, by taking from congress the power to regulate agencies that are legislative in nature."

The whole reorganization plan, the Nevada senator said, is destructive of democracy.

Senator McCarran asserted that government reorganization under Mr. Roosevelt to date has been a "colossal disaster." He denounced particularly the President's transfer of the regulation of commercial aviation back to its old political status in the department of commerce.

The transfer of the civil aeronautics authority, and the abolition of its air safety board, followed a record of 18 months without a fatal accident on the commercial air lines. Since the transfer there have been several major accidents.

DEWEY URGES GREAT AIRPORT NEAR LOOP AREA

Blighted Zone Would Be Razed for Site.

Congressman-elect Charles S. Dewey, Republican, of Chicago, yesterday called upon all Chicagoans to get busy in behalf of an airport which he proposed be constructed almost in the heart of the city. The project, Dewey said, could replace one or more square miles of blighted area within a few minutes' drive of the downtown district.

The airport, under the Dewey plan, would stretch from Lake Michigan to the New York Central railroad tracks about a mile west, and from 16th street [adjoining the south end of Soldiers' field] south to about 31st street, thus covering a mile square area. The entire field probably would be elevated to permit traffic on the Outer drive and the Illinois Central railroad to pass underneath. Underground hangar space would be provided beneath the raised east side of the field. Rubble from buildings demolished in the area would be used to make the fill.

Federal funds would be used to develop the field for defense purposes, but until needed for army use it would serve the civil air lines, Dewey said. The present Chicago airport, at 63d street and Cicero avenue, a 45 minute ride from the loop, would be used for thru planes and as a service station.

Tells Aims of Proposal.

Results of the project, said Congressman-elect Dewey, would be:

1. An income-producing improvement which would amortize the cost of the property and construction. It might be rented by the city, which in turn would collect fees from the air lines.

2. It would provide a market for unskilled labor. [In view of the tremendous defense spending program, congress will abandon nonproductive projects such as parks, throwing a large class of WPA workers back onto the dole, Dewey predicted.]

3. It would so improve air service, including time required for transportation to destination, that there would be a great increase in air traffic for the shorter flights to Chicago. This would be a booster for all business here.

4. Elimination of the one or more square miles of blighted area would stimulate real estate business thruout the city. Several hospitals in the territory would gladly move to better locations, Dewey said.

Now Is Best Time, He Says.

Now is the best time for the project, the congressman-elect said, because of the threats to the unskilled labor market and the low prices of real estate. Condemnation proceedings would have to be carried out by the federal government, he said.

"It is fantastic to put the main airport out at the edge of the city," Congressman-elect Dewey declared. "The cheapest land, actually, is that in the blighted areas near the center of Chicago.

"In an important city like Chicago, it strikes me that the army and navy can afford to consider the need for a reserve military base. The splendid World's Fair harbor would be an advantage."

Chicago is the hub of the nation's air traffic, as well as rail traffic, but the city cannot maintain its position unless it looks ahead and builds for the future, Dewey said.

Pooh Poohs Noise Objections.

Recalling the objections of some Chicagoans to the noise of air liners during consideration of the lake front island airport proposal, Dewey laughed.

"A city is practically built upon noise," he said. "Listen to that street traffic noise 20 floors below my office. Noise means activity."

Dewey, who is a former south side resident, [he now lives on the near north side and will represent the 9th district], said that the section involved in his proposal has slumped to the extent that many property owners have torn down buildings to reduce taxes and have let their property go for tax sales.

Dewey suggested that the area between 12th and 16th streets, north of the airport site proper, might be developed as a plaza, for arterial ways or parkways, or devoted to such purposes as the city might see fit.

4 DIE AS CAR HITS TREE AND BURNS

Students Killed on Way to Yule Program.

The Nation's Toll

Two hundred and fifty-two persons were killed in the United States in automobile accidents during the two day Christmas holiday, according to a survey made by the Associated Press.

Four high school students of Zion, Lake county, were killed yesterday when their car crashed into a tree and burned three miles south of Kenosha, Wis. The four, all of whom were prominent in school activities, were on their way to a Christmas carol sing in Kenosha. The crash occurred during a rain storm.

The tragedy was the second involving high school pupils during the holiday season. Last Friday three young men, all attending Tilden High school, were killed and three others were injured in a collision in Ogden avenue west of Hinsdale in Du Page county.

Victims of Crash.

Those who were killed yesterday were:

Edward Remillard, 17, years old, 2200 Elim avenue, art editor of the Zion High school newspaper.

Lawrence Wortham, 17, of 2411 Gideon avenue, a football and basketball star.

Lloyd Leech, 17, of 3006 Eschol avenue, also a star athlete.

William E. Jones Jr., 16, of 2322 Elizabeth avenue.

Jones' father is superintendent of painting at the United States Navy yard, Mare Island, Cal., having been transferred there last month from the Great Lakes Naval training station.

Two Thrown from Car.

Leech, who was driving, and Wortham were trapped in the front seat and their bodies were badly burned. Remillard and Jones were thrown from the car. The latter died soon after he had been taken to Kenosha hospital and Remillard was killed outright.

The car was headed north in highway 42 at the time of the crash. Coroner James A. Crossin of Kenosha said he was unable to find witnesses or to determine the cause of the accident.

[Nine other persons died in the Chicago area yesterday as a result of traffic injuries. Details on page 9.]

Charges Split in Views of White and His Aid to Allies Committee

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, charged last night that William Allen White has abandoned the principles of his Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

White, in a statement issued Monday, denied that either he or the committee wants to involve America in war, and asserted that the sole purpose of his committee is to keep America at peace.

Offers a Comparison.

Gen. Hammond, asserting that White's statement represents "virtually a complete reversal of the letter and spirit" of the White Committee's official position, offered a comparison of White's remarks and the White committee's statement of policy made on Nov. 26.

The America First committee, which is organized on a national scale to combat activities of such groups as the White committee, maintains that our democarcy can be saved only by keeping out of foreign wars.

Gen. Hammond's statement in part, follows:

"Mr. White said: 'Not one official utterance of our organization has anything remotely suggestive that we feel the only alternative for American defense thru aid to Great Britain is war.'

Quotes Committee Statement.

"His committee's official statement said: 'They [the American people], must ask themselves if they can afford to permit the British commonwealth of nations to be defeated—We have no doubt what the answer will be.' Obviously the committee expects the answer to be 'no.'

"And if we cannot permit it, should we go to war to prevent it? The committee avoids a direct answer, but does indicate that it is prepared: 'We say regretfully that no one can guarantee that the United States can avoid active military movement.'

"As a matter of fact the committee assumes that we are already at war: 'To the appeasers who argue that Britain and the United States should make a peace with an aggressor in control of his conquests, we reply that this world cannot live four-fifths slave and one-fifth free.' Unless the United States were already at war, how could we and Britain 'make a peace?'

"Mr. White said: 'The story is floating around that I and our committee are in favor of sending convoys with British ships or our own ships—a silly thing, for convoys, unless you shoot, are confetti, and it's not time to shoot now or ever.' He also said: 'It is not true, even remotely, that we favor repealing that portion of the neutrality law which forbids American ships to carry contraband of war into the war zone.'

"It is barely possible that the White committee's own official statement is responsible for the story that is 'floating around.'

"The White committee said: 'The life line between Great Britain and the United States is the sea route to the western hemisphere. Under no circumstances must this life line be cut and the United States must be prepared to maintain it.' There might come a time when this 'life line' might be cut unless we send our convoys or merchant vessels with contraband.

Committee Lays a Basis.

"And if we get to believe that we must 'under no circumstances' allow it to be cut, what would be more logical than to send our convoys? The committee's statement does not specifically favor this 'silly thing.' It merely lays the basis for making it inevitable if the 'life line' might be cut.

"Mr. White said: 'Our advertisaries keep insisting that we are in favor of repealing the Johnson act, a stupid thing to do because it would not help Great Britain and there are half a dozen other good legal ways to get aid to Great Britain.'

[The Johnson act forbids extension of credit by the United States to any nation in default on indebtedness to this country.]

"The members of the White committee who favor repeal of the Johnson act, all of them presumably beloved by Mr. White, are too numerous to list. But again, the suspicion that the committee favors 'a stupid thing' may come from the committee's own official statement which reads: 'We favor thru congressional action a revision of our international policy. This would include a repeal or modification of restrictive statutes which hamper this nation in its freedom of action when it would cooperate with nations defending themselves from attack by nations at war in violation of treaties with the United States.'

Asks What Statement Means

"The 'restrictive statutes' in question must be the neutrality and Johnson acts, which constitute the basis of our present international policy. If the committee does not favor repeal or modification of these statutes, what is it talking about?

"Mr. White's statement of unequivocal opposition to war and to American convoys is a first-rate Christmas present to us. Now if the White committee itself will adopt Mr. White's position, it would make an even better New Year's present."

Plan Congress Showdown on Peace Outlook

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], a leader of the noninterventionist forces in congress, today called upon President Roosevelt to make a determined effort to bring about a negotiated peace in Europe before involving this country more and more in the war by increasing aid to Great Britain.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

Wheeler expressed the opinion that the "could force peace in Europe at this time."

Wheeler's statement, and a similar one issued yesterday by Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], presaged an intensive campaign by congressional strategists to force a showdown on the possibility of a negotiated peace before making commitments likely to involve this country in the war.

Disturbed by Outlook.

The noninterventionists, as well as some who have supported the administration's foreign policy by and large, such as Senator Tydings, say they are gravely disturbed by the implications of the administration's position that the present contest in Europe "is irreconcilable in character and cannot be terminated by any methods of appeasement."

The administration's position, expressed in a statement issued in the name of William S. Knudsen, director of Mr. Roosevelt's new supercouncil of national defense, was widely interpreted as a declaration against any negotiated peace between Great Britain and the axis powers.

Opponents of the administration's position want to know who or what country is standing in the way of a negotiated peace if the conflict is irreconcilable in character. Also, before committing this country to a war to the finish they want to know what Great Britain's war aims are, what the dictated peace would be like if Britain should win.

Questions to Be Probed.

Democratic and Republican strategists, noninterventionists and some middle of the roaders, are making preparations for a fight in the next session of congress to force exploration of these questions before approving the President's scheme to purchase and lend unlimited quantities of war materials to Great Britain.

Senator Wheeler asserted that Mr. Roosevelt's scheme was clearly designed to evade the Johnson and neutrality acts, which forbid loans to war debt defaulters and belligerents, respectively.

"I think the overwhelming sentiment in this country is for giving aid to Britain within certain limits," Wheeler declared. "But the sentiment in this country for keeping out of war is equally overwhelming.

"I am satisfied that a majority of the people are against repeal of the Johnson act, the neutrality act, the convoy of British ships across the Atlantic, the lending of guns, munitions, and battleships and bombers to Britain.

"They know this is an evasion of the neutrality act, and the people are not gullible enough to believe that the guns and munitions and ships would ever be returned or replaced."

Wheeler declared that "the American people have a right to know what our foreign policy is before we give any more aid to Britain."

DE VALERA URGES U. S. TO SUPPLY ARMS TO IRELAND

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera of neutral Ireland called upon "our American friends" tonight to help Ireland obtain defense weapons, for which, he said, "we are of course ready to pay."

In a radio address to the United States, De Valera said, "I know it will be hard for you to realize that there is at this moment probably no country of Europe so effectively blockaded as we are."

In anticipation, he declared, the Irish had accumulated stocks of food and raw materials, but said "these are now being steadily exhausted."

In addition to weapons, he asked Americans to "help us, should the blockade grow tighter, to secure the supply of foodstuffs which are essential to our people."

RAILWAYS BEGIN MOVING TROOPS THRU HUNGARY

300,000 Soldiers Will Be Assembled.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 25 (AP).—The vanguard of a new German expedition into the Balkans, a total force estimated at 20 divisions or 300,000 men, with artillery, bridge building equipment, tanks, and motor transports, began moving today across Hungary to Rumania.

Germany already has 100,000 men in Rumania—by the minimum estimate of military experts—and the movement of the new troops with Hungary's grant of right-of-way stirred conjecture as to the probable reasons.

See Showdown with Russia.

Diplomatic sources thought that perhaps Germany at last was planning action against Turkey and Greece thru Bulgaria or preparing for a showdown with soviet Russia, or simply strengthening military forces in Rumania to assure civil order, or sparring for position against Russia. In the last case the impressive movement of troops, which will utilize 1,160 trains from now until Jan. 31, may be only part of a game of bluff.

[Dispatches from Berne, Switzerland, said neutral diplomatic quarters there believe Germany will make a move in the Greek campaign within the next few days. Events have gone so far in Albania, these quarters were reported to have said, that whether he wants to or not Adolf Hitler now must make some move to get Italy out of trouble in that sector.]

Passenger Service Restricted.

The Hungarian railway administration has publicly announced that passenger train service will be "specially restricted" during the troop movement, with one local train running on each line daily to handle the mails. This will leave the tracks clear for Nazi transport. German army transport experts already are quartered in Hungarian stations to supervise the train movements.

The theory that the movement of troops concerned Russia was supported by reports from travelers from Germany who said rail traffic in the eastern part of the reich was disrupted by the movement of troop trains toward the German-Russian frontier and into Slovakia.

Diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest said there was increasing tension between the soviets and the Rome-Berlin axis. Soviet diplomats openly declare the Red army is preparing to occupy the Rumanian province of Moldavia up to the Siretu [Sereth] river and all mouths of the Danube shortly after the new year opens.

Frontier Is Closed.

The Rumanian police prefect at Iasi issued a communique denying "alarmist rumors that the Russians were about to occupy Moldavia." Diplomatic reports considered that the action was made necessary because of the near panic among residents of Moldavia, many of whom are already fleeing to southern Rumania.

The Rumanian-Russian frontier was closed at Galati and a barge load of 800 Jewish refugees, seeking to enter Russia, was turned back without explanation.

Russian, German, Italian, and Rumanian experts who have been sitting for nearly two months in Bucharest in an effort to decide which nation or group of nations controls the strategically important mouths of the Danube, Germany's lifeline of supply from the Balkans to the Black sea, have finally gone home admitting their failure to reach an agreement.

The recent session was marked by a quarrel between the Germans and Italians on the one side and the Russians on the other. Each refused to compromise. Officially the meetings have been postponed until the end of January, but it was learned from informed sources that the soviets are firmly insisting on control of the Danube outlets.

Beds Control North Outlet.

Russia now controls the northernmost outlet of the river thru the muzzles of heavy guns installed at Ismail, Bessarabia. The Red army annexed Bessarabia and northern Bukovina from Rumania last June. The Rumanians have closed the Sulina and St. George outlets to shipping except with special Rumanian pilots. Lighthouses are blacked out and all shipping is barred at night.

Diplomatic dispatches told of several Russian diplomatic protests to Rumania within the last two weeks, and it was recalled that similar protests preceded the soviet seizure of the Rumanian province of Bessarabia last summer.

The soviet minister at first protested the "attitude of the Rumanian press," then the "campaign labeling all Rumanian criminals as communists," then the "general unfriendly Rumanian attitude."

At the same time military dispatches from Bucharest told of German army engineers supervising construction of defensive works on the Prut river frontier between Rumania and Bessarabia. Secondary defenses are being prepared now on the Siretu river and a third line on the Carpathian mountains which now are held in the north by Hungary.

Trains Loaded With Equipment.

Travelers arriving in Budapest reported passing solid lines of German military trains for 100 miles in Hungary. The trains were loaded with heavy and light motorized artillery, armored cars, troop transport trucks, antiaircraft guns, and other equipment.

New contingents of picked Russian troops have been reported moved up the Prut river, and at the same time soviet diplomats reported the Kremlin was concluding a new friendship pact with Turkey to be announced soon after Jan. 1.

One diplomatic explanation of the future is that Germany will continue to follow her "rubber fence theory"—that the Nazis trade Moldavia and the mouths of the Danube to Russia in return for a soviet promise to keep hands off if Germany goes thru Bulgaria to Greece and to the Dardanelles. This theory, of course, ignores soviet reports of a new friendship treaty with Turkey.

Rumanian army officers frankly declare they expect to help Germany fight Russia in the spring. They point to notices in the Bucharest newspapers warning Rumanians to take seriously their pledge of full military assistance to Germany.

WINDSOR URGES PEACE PRAYERS IN BROADCAST

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—The duke of Windsor, governor of the Bahamas, in a broadcast carried to the United States, tonight urged a prayer "that the end of hostilities be not too far distant and may God grant to those in power wisdom and the vision to prepare for the colossal readjustment that looms ahead."

Speaking from his capital at Nassau, the duke said:

"Great Britain has again become entangled in the strifes and quarrels of the old world, where the teachings of the church and the message of Christmas have not been heeded and where leaders of great peoples have stirred up in the peaceful masses feelings of hatred which fundamentally they neither feel nor understand.

"Yet on the continent of America, with which we in the Bahamas are so closely associated, there are two peoples [Canadians and Americans] that for decades have lived peacefully side by side with a frontier several thousand miles long, unguarded by a single fort or a single soldier, because they have the same comprehension of the scheme of life which has been evolved in perfect harmony by the new world."

DEADLINE TODAY FOR REGISTRY OF ALIEN RESIDENTS

Today is the deadline for the registration of aliens 14 years or older. Federal officers warned they will face heavy penalties by 5 p. m. if they fail to appear to answer questionnaires and be fingerprinted. Registration in Chicago is at the main postoffice and seven principal branches.

The registration which includes those having first naturalization papers, is expected to reveal that 30 per cent more aliens live in Chicago than has been estimated in the past. Earl G. Harrison, director of registration, announced from Washington, D. C., that 4,180,903 forms were received at the end of last week's business and that this is 580,903 more than the original minimum estimate.

The number of aliens in Chicago will total approximately 250,000, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen reported. Chicago's alien population was estimated at 180,000 when registration started last August.

12 U. S. MARINES, SAILORS BATTLE ITALIANS IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Dec. 25 (AP)—Nine American marines and three sailors from the United States gunboat Luzon, who were injured in a Christmas eve fight with Italian marines in a Shanghai café, left the hospital today in time to enjoy turkey dinners. Swollen jaws and missing teeth gave evidence of a free swinging battle, but both sides refused details of the squabble, including the number of Italians injured.

As far as could be learned, the clash was the outcome of a dispute over a table. It was understood that the incident was settled amicably by American and Italian officers after military police of both countries had stopped the fighting.

THYSSEN, WHO BROKE WITH HITLER, HELD BY FRENCH RIVIERA POLICE

NICE, France, Dec. 25.—Fritz Thyssen, German industrialist, who fled Germany before the outbreak of war, has been detained by the police at Cannes where he recently had taken refuge, it was learned today. He is being held until the French authorities decide his status.

Fritz Thyssen.

Thyssen, a sponsor of the Hitler movement, allegedly quarreled with the Fuehrer after the conclusion of the German-soviet pact and went to Switzerland. Since then he has openly expressed the opinion that the present war was unnecessary and could have been avoided.

Thyssen is said to blame Hitler and his immediate entourage for the war. Thyssen went to Paris during the war and was received by a number of French ministers.

EDUCATORS OF 19 AMERICAN LANDS MEET IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 25.—The first Pan-American economic and commercial conference opened tonight. Delegates from 19 countries were present. The conference, aimed at a closer understanding among educators of the western hemisphere, is being held under the auspices of the World Federation of Education Associations, which has its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The delegates were welcomed by Dr. Gustavo Gutierrez Sanchez, president of the Cuban house of representatives. A message was read from Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins of the United States, expressing wishes for the success of the conference.

PATENT CONTROL OF MAGNESIUM BY NAZIS DENIED

New York, Dec. 25 [Special.—The American Magnesium corporation, issued a statement today declaring there is no German patent control upon the production and fabrication of that metal in the United States.

This company, owned jointly by the Aluminum Company of America and the General Aniline and Film corporation, maintained that it operated unrestrictedly under American patents, a number of which formerly were owned by a German company.

The statement was issued in connection with a federal grand jury investigation of a purported connection between the limited production and use of magnesium in this country and reports that patents necessary for its use are controled jointly by the Aluminum Company of America and I. G. Farbenindustrie A. G., the powerful German dye trust.

BuenosAires District Beaten by Storm; Planes Wrecked

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 25 (AP).—A storm of rain and hail borne by a wind so strong that it uprooted trees and wrecked grounded planes at nearby Moron airport beat at the Buenos Aires region last night and early this morning. At Moron, where Pan American Airways has a base, a 21 passenger plane was lifted from the ground and driven against a shed. Damage at the airport may reach $240,000. Telephone and telegraph communications were interrupted. No casualties were reported.

ITALIANS REPORT AVIATORS BOMB BRITISH IN LIBYA

Strike as English Prepare for Blow at Bardia.

ROME, Dec. 25 (AP).—Fascist planes bombed and machine gunned British forces in Eastern Libya today, the Italian high command reported tonight. In one British air base in North Africa, a Christmas day communique said, "explosions and fires were noticed." The situation in Libya as a whole was described as "unchanged."

The high command said the British had bombed the western Libyan port of Tripoli, "causing some damage," and that other British planes on Tuesday flew over Naples, "dropping incendiary bombs and the usual leaflets."

British Gird for Attack.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 25 (AP).—In the face of intensified Italian air attacks, British forces besieging Bardia today were reported to be "pushing forward preparations to deal with the situation" at the Fascist base in Eastern Libya.

With Bardia already under heavy artillery fire in its ninth day of siege, the British general headquarters communique which announced the preparations was interpreted as the approach of the "zero hour" for an all-out attack on the Italian garrison of 20,000.

Picked desert troops, who led in the offensive that took Sidi Barani and pushed on 15 miles along the Libyan coast, were expected to make the assault with the support of tanks and other mechanized units.

R. A. F. Raids Airdromes.

The R. A. F. also was active in the western desert. The middle east command's communique reported bombing attacks on the airdromes at Tmimi and Gazala in which "all bombs fell within the target area." On the other hand, a large force of Italian bombers, with fighter plane protection, was said to have inflicted only "slight" damage and a "number" of casualties in a raid on Sollum, Egypt.

Without a single loss in aircraft or personnel, the R. A. F. claimed successful aerial blows at Gunna, where bombs struck an ammunition dump; at Burye, where buildings were set on fire, and at Hess, where a dive bombing attack caused "considerable damage" to storehouses and dumps. These are in Italian East Africa.

In the same sector a plane of the Rhodesian squadron, on a pamphlet raid, was reported to have brought down an Italian fighter plane over Kassala.

Of the other British forces, only patrols on the Anglo-Egyptian frontier with Ethiopia were reported active. These, general headquarters said, "inflicted casualties upon the enemy."

Nazi Army Phone Wire Cut, Fine Orleans Million Francs

VICHY, France, Dec. 25 (AP).—The newspaper Depeche de Tours said the population of Orleans, in German occupied France, had been fined 1,000,000 francs [normally about $20,000] after a German army telephone wire was cut.

ITALIAN NEWSPAPERS INFORM PEOPLE OF CHURCHILL'S SPEECH

ROME, Dec. 25.—Today's newspapers brought British Minister Winston Churchill's speech to the knowledge of the Italian people. They did not print the full text, however. Two parts of the address are missing: the text of the letter Churchill wrote to Premier Mussolini and the passages in which he blamed Mussolini alone for taking Italy into the war.

In the latter connection Stefani, official Italian news agency, summary said:

"There the British premier childishly permitted himself the classically British attempt to distinguish the people from the régime, with which they form a unit."

The Italian summary has Churchill saying that France had not crumbled just before Italy intervened and adds that he "sent Mussolini a message calling upon the Duce to prevent Italy's entrance into the war."

'NO WAR' LEADER SAYS ROOSEVELT HOLDS PEACE KEY

Urges Him to Take Public Into His Confidence.

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Verne Marshall, chairman of the No Foreign War committee, said today that "we will know exactly how to end this war" if President Roosevelt "takes us wholly into his confidence" next Sunday night.

Verne Marshall.

The President is scheduled to speak at 8:30 [Chicago time] that night from Washington on "The Present Emergency." The address will be broadcast by all major networks.

"President Roosevelt is going to tell the country how and what he feels about aid to Britain," said Marshall, who is editor of the Cedar Rapids [Iowa] Gazette.

"If he takes us wholly into his confidence, we will know how best and most quickly to act in behalf of humanity everywhere. In short, we will know exactly how to end this war. And within weeks, if not days."

Charges Frustration Attempt.

Declaring attempts had been made to frustrate and injure the No Foreign War committee, Marshall continued:

"Slimily, sneakingly, in dark corners, in sordid centers of un-Americanism, in certain places of great power there proceed at this moment the schemings of men who would wreck the No Foreign War committee. Why? The answer is a deadly one, and it, too, has been proved in every known and necessary manner. It will be made public if I am forced to take that action.

"There are people who for reasons other than those grounded in the welfare of the people of the United States and the world—all the people—want the United States not only to give away its defenses, but to give them away and then get into this latest chapter of Europe's endless political, ideological and economic war.

War Escape Only Aim.

"The No Foreign War committee is fighting only to keep America out of another chapter of a conflict born and bred of individual and governmental ambitions on whose altars humanity is sacrificed."

"Our committee knows," the statement added, "that once the belligerents of this world understand that Americans are for America first, second, third, last and always, and that they are willing and ready to fight anywhere for priceless principles the symbols of which are Calvary and a crown of thorns, there will be lasting peace.

"But for our unwritten commitments prior to the resumption of war in Europe, more than one year ago, there might have been no resumption."

Backed by Longstreet Widow.

Marshall announced receipt of a message from Mrs. Helen Dortch Longstreet, widow of James Longstreet, the Confederate general, offering her unqualified support of the No Foreign War committee. Mrs. Longstreet, organizer of the Defenders of the Republic, said:

"With our national defenses adequately built upon land, sea, and in the air, and the barriers of oceans, east and west, no power on earth, nor any combination of powers, can successfully attack our United States of America.

"None know this better than the men, high in power, who now seek to condition us for war. This is not being done by the Democratic party but by a monstrous product of monstrous conditions to which the Democratic party has temporarily surrendered, lock, stock, and barrel."

Marshall said Mrs. Longstreet had consented to serve on the committee's board of directors.

MRS. HELEN VANDERBILT.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 25 (AP).—Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental and Western Air, arrived here today for a holiday visit with Mrs. Helen Vanderbilt, but denied they had any "immediate" plans for marrying. Mrs. Vanderbilt, the former Helen Varner of Clarksburg, W. Va., and Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. were divorced at Carson City, Nev., Dec. 18.

ANTI-WAR GROUP HEAD QUESTIONS WHITE'S FAITH

As members of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee prepared for a meeting tomorrow night in the La Salle hotel, Chairman William J. Grace yesterday questioned the good faith of William Allen White's denial that he or his Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies wants to involve the United States in war.

"When can White be believed?" he asked. "Whose word is more acceptable—that of Prof. Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar, who resigned from the White committee because of its abandonment of American neutrality and the adoption of an attitude of war on the side of Britain, or Mr. White, who says the purpose of his committee is to keep America out of the European conflict? White admits that some members of his committee are 'martial'! What has he done to denounce or oppose them?"

Grace said plans for a rally in January would be made at tomorrow's meeting. An invitation has been sent to Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, to speak at the January meeting. A reply is expected from him before tomorrow's meeting.

PANAMA'S NEW CONSTITUTION IS EFFECTIVE JAN. 2

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Dec. 25.—President Arnulfo Arias, in a decree issued last night abrogated the constitution of 1904 in favor of that adopted by the national assembly last month. The decree, signed by all cabinet ministers, quoted the resolution of the national election jury, which reported the final count in the plebiscite held Dec. 15, as showing 144,312 affirmative, 1,865 negative, and 512 blank votes.

The national assembly will meet Dec. 30 to receive official notification of the adoption of the new constitution, which becomes effective Jan. 2. Public employés who refuse to swear allegiance to it will be dismissed.

KING OF BRITAIN URGES RENEWED VICTORY EFFORT

The Future Will Be Hard, He Warns Nation.

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—King George VI of Great Britain and his ministers of the fighting services today called for renewed efforts in the war. In the longest speech he ever made, the king told his peoples in "sober confidence" that "our feet are planted on the path of victory."

King George VI.

He looked forward to happier days "when everyone will be at home together," but warned that "the future will be hard."

He drew a line between the last war, in which "the flower of our youth was destroyed and the rest of the people saw but little of the battle," and this war in which "we are all in the front line and the danger together."

War Brings New Unity.

"I know," he added, "that the older among us are proud it should be so."

Thru that very factor, he said, this war brings "a new unity," and "out of all this suffering there is growing a harmony which we must carry forward into the days to come when we have endured to the end and victory is ours."

"We have surmounted a grave crisis. We do not underrate the dangers and difficulties which confront us still."

For the safety and security of England's children the king gave thanks to the people of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, and to "so many generous and loyal friends and organizations" in the United States which are giving "unstinted help."

Ministers of War Services.

A serious note also was stressed by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty. The navy, he said, has "charted the course to victory and must stick to it."

Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary of state for air congratulated the Royal Air Force on its "decisive victories in the skies" and reminded the R. A. F. that "our task is less than half completed."

Capt. H. D. R. Margesson, newly appointed war minister, declared the successes of the army in Libya were "good omens" for the moment when the British army will measure its strength against our main enemy.

LANDS BOMBER GIVEN BRITISH ON CANADIAN FIELD

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 25 (AP).—Jimmy Mattern, veteran American flyer, dropped down to nearby St. Hubert airport today, bringing the British empire a Christmas present. Mattern landed early in the afternoon, piloting a big camouflaged Hudson bomber—gift of the workers of the Lockheed Vega plant in California to Great Britain.

The ship, "Spirit of Lockheed Vega Employés," functioned perfectly all the way from Burbank, Cal., where 10,000 persons gathered to watch the takeoff, Mattern said.

Quezon Suffers a Setback; Doctor with Him All Night

MANILA, Dec. 25 (AP).—President Manuel Quezon was attended by a doctor thruout last night at the presidential palace after he had suffered a setback while recovering from an illness, a usually reliable source said today. The informant said the president was ill with a heavy cough.

White House Guests

Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha of Norway.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha of Norway sat down to a typical American Christmas dinner today and ate turkey carved by their host, President Roosevelt.

The royal refugees and their three children—Harold, 3; Ragnhild, 10, and Astri, 8—were last minute guests at the White House.

Princess Martha and the youngsters have been living on a nearby Maryland estate since they came to this country after the German invasion of their homeland. Prince Olaf arrived Monday to spend Christmas with his family before going to Canada.

The Roosevelts invited the Norwegian youngsters "to come over and look at the tree" with the only two children spending Christmas at the White House this year—Frankie Roosevelt, 2 year old son of Franklin Jr., and Diana Hopkins, 8 year old daughter of Harry Hopkins, former secretary of commerce.

SPANISH SHOOT DOWN WARPLANE; 5 ABOARD KILLED

LA LINEA, Spain, Dec. 25 (AP).—Five occupants of a French warplane were killed today when Spanish anti-aircraft guns shot their craft down into the Mediterranean sea.

Rumors that prominent French politicians were aboard the plane, which was believed to have come from French Morocco, were not confirmed. Spanish authorities said the plane evidently had been unable to find the Gibraltar airfield, where it was trying to land. Spanish batteries opened fire when the plane flew over Spanish soil. High seas prevented any rescue attempt.

Several unidentified planes drew fire from Spanish guns when they flew over this area earlier in the day.

"SUPER CABINET" MAY BE CHOSEN TO DIRECT FRANCE

VICHY, France, Dec. 25 (AP).—Informed sources today said there was a possibility a French "super cabinet" might take over direction of the most important government policy.

Admiral Jean Darlan, minister of the navy; Gen. Charles Huntziger, war minister, and Pierre Etienne Flandin, foreign minister, were mentioned as possible members.

Darlan is in Paris for French-German negotiations, which are reported returning gradually to the stage they had reached before the ousting of Vice Premier Pierre Laval.

3 in Seaplane Hurt When It Swerves to Miss Small Boat

BAHIA, Brazil, Dec. 25 (AP).—Three passengers were taken to a hospital with slight injuries today after a seaplane of Panair do Brasil, subsidiary of Pan American Airways, crashed in alighting. An air line official said the pilot swerved to avoid a small boat.

BERLIN, LONDON CELEBRATE A DAY WITHOUT BOMBS

Rome Passes Christmas with Subdued Spirit.

The German and British air forces withheld their bombs yesterday. Rome, far removed from the two scenes of Italian army operations in Albania and Libya, observed Christmas peacefully, but in subdued spirit.

Britain almost resembled the "Merrie England" of old in a "bombing truce" which Germany also acknowledged had been in effect since the Manchester attacks and British retaliatory raids of the night of Dec. 23-24. Only one skirmish, in which a Nazi plane was shot down over the Orkney islands off Scotland, marred the truce.

The following dispatches from Berlin, London and Rome tell of Christmas observances:

BERLIN COMES INTO OPEN

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—This metropolis and the rest of Germany today were enveloped in a Christmas peace. For the first time since the outbreak of the war, the army high command's daily communique and other war news were missing from the front pages of newspapers.

The communique briefly stated that "the enemy did not attack German territory last night and there were no military operations on the German side. Adolf Hitler, supreme commander, is spending Christmas with his troops in the west."

Balmy weather brought Berlin's populace into the open and turned the city's streets into holiday scenes which reflected good cheer.

There was no official confirmation available that a three day Christmas truce had been negotiated, but such reports had been privately current for a week. In keeping with German Christmas tradition, such a truce was taken for granted, even in the heat of the fiercest warfare.

LONDONERS CELEBRATE

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP).—The cockney—and cocky—English working folk made this Christmas night one to be remembered.

They figuratively "tore the lid off" the deep air raid and subway shelters where they have found safe retreat from German air bombs. The crowds laughed and sang and danced. Christmas carols are not dancing tunes and the music was mostly on the lively side.

Some folks slept amid the din, but most joined in the fun. Paper hats were everywhere. Most of the shelters had Christmas trees. Londoners did not need to stay in the shelters, but most of them apparently wanted to spend Christmas night at home—and the shelters have been "home" since early September.

In daylight Mr. and Mrs. John Bull ate their Christmas dinner, exchanged presents, and went to the movies, thankful for the one day of peace.

Thousands flocked to churches to pray for victory and for their loved ones with the army, the navy and the air force.

The king spent the day with his family and Prime Minister Churchill found release from the cares of state in the antics of the baby grandson who bears his name.

A SAD DAY FOR ROME

ROME, Dec. 25.—Italians observed a sad Christmas today. In addition to the reverses in Libya and Albania, many families felt the absence of their sons fighting on faraway fronts.

It was the first wartime Christmas Italy had celebrated in 22 years and the gayety of former times was replaced by the preoccupation for the future.

The lifting of the ban on the sale of meat and sweets for the holidays helped to create something approaching the Christmas spirit.

In Rome Christmas was celebrated under a white mantle of snow. Altho it meant an air of festivity, the snowfall interfered with traffic and attendance at masses was sharply curtailed. Masses were celebrated in the afternoon instead of at midnight by special dispensation of Pope Pius XI so people could return home before the blackout.

FINDS MALTA LITTLE DAMAGED FROM 203 ITALIAN AIR RAIDS

BY LARRY ALLEN.

VALETTA, Malta, Dec. 25 (AP).—Outside of England herself, the Mediterranean fortress and naval base of Malta has experienced more bombing in this war than any other place in the British Empire.

When I stepped ashore from the flagship of the British Mediterranean fleet I was amazed to find Malta singularly free of bomb damage except in a few residential areas near the port. The Fascist achievements in 203 attacks on Valetta alone have included the destruction of 166 houses, an old church, and Fort Angelo, built in 1210.

From what I could learn, casualties have been comparatively slight and the Italians have failed to destroy either British naval units here or the military establishments.

The Maltese are courageous and deeply religious. They have become so inured to air raids that comparatively few seek shelter. For those who desire protection, however, there is a maze of tunnels cut out of the solid rock.

SKIMP ON MEALS! THAT'S THE RULE IN LANDS AT WAR

Limit Is Placed on What People May Eat.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Modern war strikes home hard at meal time.

Hundreds of millions in the warring nations in Europe and Asia today are limited in what they may eat —either by government decree or by the workings of economic laws.

Food shortages have been reported in many of the countries at war and in many neutral nations as well. In most of the lands across the sea, food rationing is the rule.

After the holidays, Britons probably will be called upon to take another hitch in their belts so as to help their government cope with the problem of bringing supplies across the U-boat infested Atlantic.

Ease Ban for Holidays.

However, for seven days before Christmas, they indulged in more liberal rations of the two most carefully hearded commodities—12 ounces of sugar and 4 ounces of tea, instead of the normal ration of 8 ounces of sugar and 2 of tea per week.

Other food rationed alike in England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland are meats, one shilling tenpence worth [about 37 cents]; butter, 2 ounces; margarine, 4 ounces; and bacon, 4 ounces, for each person each week.

There is no rationing as yet in neutral Ireland, but exporting of sugar, butter and tea recently was prohibited.

British shopkeepers ration their customers on such foods as eggs, which are almost unobtainable at present, onions, and imported fruits.

A Comparison of Rations.

In Germany, too, the Christmas spirit resulted in a slight relaxation of rationing. The customary sugar ration of 900 grams [about 32 ounces] a month was increased by 500 grams [17.65 ounces] for Christmas baking.

Other foods rationed in Germany include some of those rationed in Britain, and a comparison of rations for a month looks like this:

	BRITAIN.	GERMANY.
Sugar	48 oz.	32 oz.
Butter and margarine	24 oz.	18 oz.
Meat	$1.50 worth	70 oz.
Bread and cake	not rationed	78 oz.

One can buy 8.8 ounces of peas, beans, or rice, in Germany or elect to choose two cans of condensed milk instead. Some commodities, notably eggs and coffee, do not appear on ration cards; citizens get tickets full of numbers, and occasionally announcement is made that specific numbers are good for some food products. Thus about four eggs a month, 4.4 ounces of coffee and an occasional can of fruit may be bought.

Dog Meat Legalized.

In Germany, fruit and whole milk are reserved almost wholly for children. Dog meat recently was legalized as a food for human consumption.

In Italy, where spaghetti and rice recently were placed on the rationed list, authorities say Italians will have plenty to eat, even if the Greek campaign lasts all winter. However, the United States department of agriculture last month predicted a food shortage this winter in Italy.

Italy still is eating meat every day. The Italian sugar ration is 21 ounces, while the butter allowance is 10.5 ounces. Coffee has been stringently limited for months.

France Short of Food.

Defeated France, facing a serious food shortage, has resorted to severe rationing measures. The Vichy government tightened restrictions already in force on Nov. 9 by making any one liable to imprisonment and heavy fines for "abandoning slices of bread after making them unfit for eating." Restaurant keepers were forbidden to serve more than one slice of bread at a time.

The Nov. 9 decree also reduced the bread ration for adult Frenchmen from 350 grams [12.35 ounces] to 250 grams [8.82 ounces] a day.

The French meat ration is 90 grams [3.17 ounces], on the four days each week that butcher shops are open.

Ten grams of fats [3.17 ounces]—including butter, margarine, oil, lard, and vegetable compounds—are permitted with the four meat meals within a week, while only five grams are allowed with the other meals.

Rationing in Occupied Lands.

In other occupied lands, rationing may be summarized as follows:

Poland—Almost duplicates that of Germany, except that Poles get a third more meat and a little less bread.

Holland—Virtually no meat available, but ration cards allow 70 ounces a month. Other food allowances include 35.3 ounces of fats, 28.24 ounces of cereal, 70 ounces of bread.

Norway—Sugar allowance is 28.24 ounces a month, bread and flour 35.3 ounces.

Denmark—Butter allowance about 50 ounces a month, almost four times as much as in Germany, and 35.3 ounces of whipped cream. Cheese is a forbidden food.

Occupied France—Same as in Germany except that more bread is permitted.

Belgium—Same picture as in France.

Bohemia and Moravia—Same as Germany, except more meat, notably poultry.

Greece now has five meatless days a week.

Finland Rations Meat.

Neutral countries also feel food shortages. Switzerland has had many products on the rationed list for months. Hungary has three meatless days a week. Turkey recently rationed gasoline.

Finland rations meat. Spain had rationing for a long time, but recently took fish, eggs, and some other products off the list.

Russia limited the buying of bread, butter, meat, potatoes, and other foodstuffs last October.

Sweden recently rationed pork.

On the other side of the world—China, after three and a half years of war, so far has rationed only salt, but the cost of foodstuffs in "free China" has risen 300 to 1,500 per cent, and there are shortages in some areas.

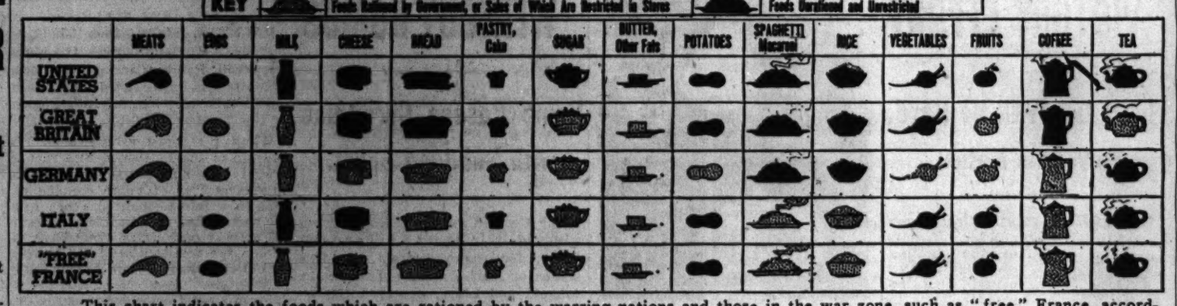
In Japan sugar, charcoal, and matches are the only things currently rationed. Each person is permitted a half pound of sugar a month and the cost is fixed at 6 cents a pound. Butter is scarce. Beef costs 70 cents a pound.

KILLED BY AUTO AT EVANSVILLE.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 25 [Special].—Bert Willett, 57, was killed today while walking in a rainstorm when he was hit by a car driven by Harold Munday.

War Restricts Diet of Warring Nations While America Feasts at Peace

(Story in adjoining column.)



This chart indicates the foods which are rationed by the warring nations and those in the war zone, such as "free" France, according to the fragmentary information which has been reported from foreign sources. Some curiosities in the rationing, such as restrictions on bread in Italy, but none on cake, and on coffee in Germany, but none on tea, may be explained on the basis of incomplete information or on the dietary habits of the people concerned. The limitations imposed by war conditions on these nations are contrasted with the plenty which peaceful America is enjoying at this Christmas season.

SWITZERLAND ENJOYS THE MOST BOUNTIFUL CHRISTMAS IN EUROPE

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 25 (AP).—Neutral Switzerland eased up on her rationing and blackout restrictions today for what probably was the fullest Christmas celebration in continental Europe. Lights glowed on snowy Alpine slopes and in the valleys thruout Christmas eve and on into Christmas morning. Thrifty citizens tucked napkins under their chins for huge dinners as dividends from government ration cards allowed them a bit of cream and a bit more butter.

The German speaking Swiss were better off than their colinguists across the Rhine; the Italian speaking Swiss had an edge on their Fascist neighbors; the French speaking Swiss outdid their French neighbors as far as the Christmas celebration was concerned.

But there was the shadow of war shortages even in Switzerland. Everywhere were such telltale warnings as a reminder to save every scrap of tinfoil which might come on bottletops or Christmas package wrappings.

Generalissimo Henri Guisan, with an honor guard of torch bearing soldiers and civilians, climbed thru heavy snow to a church in the Swiss Jura mountains to attend typical rural services.

1,670 CHINESE PLANES SHOT DOWN, SAY JAPS; PUT OWN LOSS AT 153

TOKIO, Dec. 25. (AP).—Japanese navy's airforce has downed at least 1,670 Chinese planes since the outbreak of the war in July, 1937, imperial headquarters declared in a Christmas summary. It added that the Chinese probably lost 258 other planes and that the Japanese lost only 153. The report said the Japanese dropped 8,519 tons of bombs in 20,814 raids on Chinese objectives in 1940. The communique also said the navy had disposed of 6,518 mines in the Yangtze, and Pearl rivers, Bias bay and waters off Swatow since 1937.

FUGITIVE KILLER OF POLICEMAN CAUGHT IN HILLS

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 26, Thursday (AP).—A man booked as Charlie Coates was brought to the Fulton county jail here early today and charged with murder in the slaying of Corporal W. F. Black of the Georgia state highway patrol at Ringgold, Ga., last Friday night.

The man, captured last night near Decatur, Tenn., after a five day chase thru the mountains of North Georgia and Meigs county, Tennessee, was identified as Charlie Coates, who escaped with two companions from the Buchanan county [Missouri] jail. He was weak from loss of blood, hunger, and exposure when captured.

Lewis Spends Christmas in Bed with Influenza

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and former chairman of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, spent Christmas in bed, where he has been nursing a mild attack of influenza for the last week.

MIKADO EXPECTS STRIFE TO GO ON; URGES JAP UNITY

TOKIO, Dec. 26, Thursday (AP).—Emperor Hirohito, formally opening the Japanese imperial diet, told members today "the prevailing unprecedented disturbances of the world appear to be endless; we therefore wish the entire nation to be perfectly united to assist ourselves in conducting the affairs of state."

The emperor noted that "intercourse between this empire and other treaty powers has become closer."

"The state ministers," he said, "are instructed to introduce before the diet the budget for the 1941-'42 fiscal year and for temporary military expenditure. You are requested to deliberate on and approve it in a coöperative spirit, paying attention to the current serious situation."

Organization of the diet is expected to be more difficult than in the past because this is the first without political parties. After a brief session tomorrow the diet will recess until Jan. 20.

Long Distance Phone Calls Set a Record in New York

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—Christmas traffic on the New York Telephone company lines to long distance points, including Europe, South America and one ship at sea, was the heaviest ever experienced by the company. Out of town calls totaled more than 40 per cent over those made last Christmas. The record number of calls to the Pacific coast caused a six hour delay in the afternoon. The traffic to Manila was the heaviest ever recorded.

Australia's Defense Heads Meet British in Singapore

SINGAPORE, Dec. 25 (AP).—Australia's war minister, Percy B. Spender, arrived here today with Lieut. Gen. V. A. H. Strudee, chief of the Australian general staff, to confer with British military officials. Australia "has a vital interest in Singapore," Spender said.

DICK TRACY—Just Another Job

DID YOU FIND OUT WHERE MINKONY LIVES?
NOT ONLY WHERE HE LIVES, BUT ALSO WHERE HE PARKS HIS CAR. THAT'S IT RIGHT THERE!
HE COMES OUT PROMPTLY EVERY NIGHT AT SEVEN-THIRTY AND DRIVES TO HIS NIGHT CLUB, "THE GOBLET."
GOOD!
WAIT! THERE HE COMES NOW!
HE'S NOT A BIG FELLOW! YOU AND I COULD HANDLE HIM, EH, LOWSE?
CERTAINLY! YOU MEAN WITH THE ROPES - AND THINGS?
YEAH, COME ON. IT'LL ONLY TAKE A MINUTE!

Hemstitching Machine—

Lost office ledgers—meat market concession for a German Hungarian butcher—offer to trade a de luxe sedan of expensive make for a new mink coat — opportunities for an office boy—permanent waves—these were subjects of want ads in yesterday's Tribune want ad section.

Follow the want ads in the Tribune every day. They offer many new opportunities to make and to save money.

VALONA BLASTED IN DIVE BOMBING RAID BY BRITISH

Airdrome at Key Albanian Base Set Afire.

ATHENS, Dec. 25 (AP).—With Italian troops reported occupying strong natural positions south of Valona and preparing a defense of that southern Albanian port, the British royal air force today announced a surprise dive bombing which left Valona's airfield "enveloped in palls of black smoke," and smashed Italian airplanes on the ground.

[The Italian high command, apparently reporting on the same attack, staged Tuesday, said the British raiders "withdrew from combat" when attacked by Fascist planes. The Italians also said that Greek attacks were repulsed as bad weather hampered land operations on the Albanian battlefront.]

Greek advices were that Italian troops had taken up positions at Logara pass, 15 miles south of Valona, ready to oppose the left wing of the Greek offensive into Albania.

Crack Alpine Troops Beaten.

Continued snow, bitter cold and mist limited operations in the north, but the Greeks claimed local successes there against heavy reinforcements of crack Alpine troops from Italy.

A government spokesman said:

"To previous victories of our army is added a victory scored in the region west of the River Drinos, where units of our army pushed the enemy back in an attack amid a blizzard, and occupied additional fortified enemy positions."

The Greek home security ministry announced that Italian planes bombed Corfu Christmas day for the 23d time, killing 15 persons and injuring about 30. Levkas, off the Epirus coast of Greece, also was attacked.

[Reports from Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, said that German dive bombers were attacking the Greek controled road between Pogradetz and Koritza on the northern end of the battle front. More than 100 such bombers now are operating in Albania, according to these reports.]

Troops Struggle Thru Drifts.

SOMEWHERE ON THE SOUTHERN ALBANIAN FRONT, Dec. 25 (AP).—Candles burned in stone shrines along a darkened mountain road behind the Greek front lines, snow piled up on gun emplacements, and soldiers struggled thru waist deep drifts to bring their comrades shells and food this Christmas day.

An army hospital in this sector reeks of disinfectants and is crowded with men. Some arrived on Christmas eve in jolting, battered ambulances. Others came in today. Now they lie on the floor.

Just 12 feet outside the hospital entrance is a bomb crater, reminder of an Italian air raid. But no Fascist bomber could fly thru today's snowstorm to this station.

Cold Takes Its Toll.

Some months ago this building was a school. Now, on the blackboards of its classrooms, wounded soldiers have scrawled cartoons depicting their military victories, embellishing them with soberly poetic epitaphs.

Attendants bandaged half a dozen wounded men.

"Thank God that up to now we have had enough medical supplies," the surgeon said.

The freezing weather has taken a toll among both Greeks and Italians. It swells the flesh on men's limbs and cracks the skin open in bloody seams.

This is a typographical reproduction of card with the printed form and the correspondence in script translated into English.

For the first time since last summer when the German army overran France, Mrs. Martha M. Fisher, who has a dress shop at 1702 Central street, Evanston, received news from her mother a few days ago. The news came on a German-provided form postcard, the only means of correspondence between occupied and unoccupied France.

Mrs. Fisher's mother, Mme. G. Galliot, lives at Les Sables d'Olonne, a resort town about halfway between Bordeaux and St. Nazaire on the Atlantic coast.

Unable to correspond directly with her daughter, Mme. Galliot addressed the card Oct. 23 to a friend, Mme. Robin, in the Pyrenées mountains. Mme. Robin sent it to her daughter, Mrs. Frank Lynch at Flushing, N. Y. Mrs. Lynch then enclosed the card in a letter to Mrs. Fisher.

[For several months the only means of communication between the French occupied and unoccupied zones has been postcards already printed with ready made phrases. Two lines at the bottom are left blank for additional "family correspondence." It was announced last week that the high German authorities have notified the postal administration in Vichy of their intention of suppressing even this concession unless there is an immediate "end of abuses."]

Pope Prays for Return of Peace to the World

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 25 (AP).—Pope Pius XII prayed today for the return of peace to the world after saying Christmas mass at 7:30 a. m. in the private chapel of his apartment. Then he read greetings from sovereigns and chiefs of state and received the children of his nephews for an exchange of gifts around a Christmas tree in the papal palace.

Britain Says It Will Pay Danes for Use of Ships

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Great Britain tonight denied it has confiscated Danish ships that have been placed in British service. The ships are held in trust for their owners, said an official statement, and Britain will pay for their use. If the vessels are sunk, it was added, the owners will be reimbursed.

BRITISH STEAMER FLEES SHELLS OF PURSUING U-BOAT

Sends Two Distress Calls in North Atlantic.

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—The 5,222 ton British freighter Everleigh reported in two wireless messages picked up here today that it was attacked by a German submarine about 650 miles west of the northern tip of Scotland and told of a race to escape the shells of its pursuer.

The first message, intercepted by Mackay radio shortly before 7 a. m. [Chicago time], reported that the submarine had opened fire. Three hours later, a second message indicated that the freighter, steaming almost due north, in an apparent attempt to shake off the attacker, still was being shelled.

40 Miles in 3 Hours.

The second message gave a position more than 40 miles north of the spot where the first attack took place, and indicated the freighter was steaming at more than 14 knots, presumably the top speed of a vessel of its type under forced draft.

Both positions are in an area where several attacks by submarines on British shipping have been reported recently.

No further messages were heard and there was nothing to show whether the Everleigh had gone down or whether, evading its pursuer, it was steaming for port.

The Everleigh is owned by the Atlantic Shipping and Trading company, and operated out of London.

Subs Capable of Such Feats.

Germany, according to Jane's Fighting Ships possesses two, if not more, classes of submarines capable of cruising in the area from which the Everleigh's distress signals were received. The so-called oceangoing class, mounting one 4.1 inch gun, has a registered speed of 18.5 knots on the surface, or more than sufficient to overhaul the freighter under normal conditions.

The smaller seagoing class with a 3.5 inch gun as its major deck armament is capable of a surface speed of 16.5 knots.

Ernest Westerdahl, 57 years old, a steel worker, suffocated yesterday in his room at 9117 Commercial avenue from smoke from smoldering bed clothes which had been set afire by a cigaret.

Film Actress Dies

Agnes Ayres (left) as she appeared in 1924 when a reigning movie star, and (right) as she looked at a court appearance last year.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Agnes Ayres, 42 years old, a star of the silent film era, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage. She had been ill for several weeks.

Miss Ayres skyrocketed to fame opposite Rudolph Valentino in "The Shiek." The advent of the talkies marked her decline in pictures. Recently, in attempting a comeback, she said: "It cost me a half million dollars to learn the value of a nickel, but I wouldn't trade the experience for all that money back again."

A daughter, Maria, 15, survives. Maria is with her father, S. Manuel Reachi, Mexico City film producer, whom Miss Ayres divorced in 1927.

Miss Ayres was born in Carbondale, Ill., and educated in private schools in Chicago. She starred in such pictures as "The Ten Commandments," "Son of the Shiek," "Lady of Victory," "The Donovan Affair," and "Broken Hearted."

BRITISH FLYERS BOMBARD CORFU WITH YULE GIFTS

ATHENS, Dec. 25 (AP).—British pilots in Santa Claus rôles bombarded Corfu today with Christmas gifts for children of the island which has been a frequent target of Italian planes.

People of the Greek island had been informed in advance of the appearance of the planes and large crowds gathered about the "target area."

Vice Air Marshal J. H. Dalbiac of the R. A. F. said the gifts were "tokens of our admiration for your courage in the face of heavy and constant attack and as appreciation of the kindnesses shown our airmen who have had to land at Corfu."

FIREMEN FAIL TO REVIVE BABY.

Frances Perino, 3 month old daughter of Mrs. Mary Perino, 1930 Oakdale avenue, died yesterday as her mother prepared to celebrate the infant's first Christmas. A fire department inhalator squad tried in vain to revive the baby.

HIGH SEAS TEAR LIFEBOATS FROM RESCUE CUTTER

Lumber Schooner Battles Pacific Storm.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—High seas ripped four lifeboats out of the davits of the coast guard cutter Shawnee and injured a seaman today as she went to the aid of the lumber schooner Stanwood, wallowing "in a sinking condition" 15 miles off Fort Bragg, Cal.

The cutter was battered by the towering seas as she crossed the bar to Humboldt bay on her way out from Eureka, Cal. Commander C. C. Paden sent only a meager report that the waves had carried away the small boats and fractured the leg of one man.

The cutter Shoshone was immediately dispatched from San Francisco to relieve the Shawnee and take the Stanwood in tow if necessary.

The freighter Arkansas, first ship to arrive alongside the little lumber schooner 150 miles north of San Francisco, reported the Stanwood was still able to navigate and was steaming slowly down the coast.

Crew of 19 in Danger.

The 627 ton ship, laden with a heavy lumber cargo, left Portland, Ore., Dec. 21 for San Francisco. She was reported to have a crew of about 19 men aboard.

Heavy seas battered the California coastline, sending residents fleeing from one shoreside community as flood threats dwindled in most areas of the state, deluged by nearly a week of storms.

Anxiety also was felt in Oregon coast towns, where abnormally high tides, scheduled tomorrow and Friday, spelled possible serious flood conditions. Sea water already has partially flooded some communities and the tides tomorrow will be boosted by rains and pushed by winds, the weather bureau forecast.

Waves Found Summer Homes.

Seas battered down a bulkhead protecting the summer settlement of Shelter Cove and ran wild thru the 25 houses there. Most of them were empty, but nearly 10 families who planned to celebrate Christmas at Shelter Cove fled their homes, loading belongings, furniture, and Christmas presents onto their automobiles in a general evacuation two hours before dawn.

Combers broke as high as the windows of the homes, smashed underpinnings from some of the houses, and left a few porches dangling limply. George Lewis, storekeeper at the little settlement on Point San Pedro on the San Francisco peninsula, estimated damage at about $5,000.

ADMITS SLAYING ENEMY BEATING ON DOOR WITH AX

Anton Waskelewicz, 52 years old, a packing house worker, was shot and killed yesterday by Frank Kernozsiak, 63, as the climax of an eight year feud over a real estate deal. Kernozsiak confessed to Capt. James B. Kerr that he fired as Waskelewicz, armed with an ax, battered at the door of his home at 10800 South Homan avenue.

Frank Kernozsiak [top] and Anton Waskelewicz.

Waskelewicz's wife, Alexandria, told police she refused admittance to her husband early in the day when he returned to their home at 10807 South Trumbull avenue after he had been out drinking. He returned five hours later, picked up the ax, and left, she said.

Kernozsiak said he fired one shot from a revolver he kept in the house after warning Waskelewicz to stay away from the door.

Kentucky Bride Ends Life; 'Homesick for Chicago'

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 25 (AP).—Mrs. G. B. Thomas, 34, bride of two weeks, died last night after swallowing poison, Coroner Carl Hoffman reported. He said Thomas told him his wife had been "homesick" for Chicago, her former home. The couple came here 10 days ago.

A FLYING SANTA FINDS GRAVE OF FRIGATE IN SEA

Drops Christmas Gifts to Light Keepers.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 25 (AP).—The wrecked hulk of the 18th century British frigate Somerset, which lay in Boston Harbor the night Paul Revere made his famous pre-revolutionary ride, was rediscovered from the air yesterday in the shifting sands of Cape Cod during a yuletide flight by New England's flying Santa Claus.

Edward Snow.

The finding of the frigate's burial ground high-lighted a trip by Edward Rowe Snow, coastal historian and 1940 "Flying Santa" to more than a score of lighthouses and coast guard stations between Boston and the tip of the cape.

First Seen Back in 1886.

Rowe said that to his knowledge winds and tide had exposed the rotting timbers to souvenir hunters only twice before—in 1886 and 1905. In each instance, however, storms soon covered the frigate's ruins. The Somerset was wrecked off Peaked Hill Bar on the cape in 1778.

Today's flight finished Snow's self-assigned task to deliver Christmas bundles by air to more than a hundred isolated coastal outposts between Portland, Me., and Cape Cod. Forty-six packages were dropped along the shore of Massachusetts Bay during the final flight.

Santa gets a Thrill.

The Christmas plane gave Santa Snow a thrill by cutting across 46 miles of Massachusetts Bay in a straight over-water hop aimed at Highland Light, near Provincetown.

At Minot's Light, off Cohasset, Snow made six different attempts before he succeeded in landing a bundle on a three-foot platform near the top of the shaft—the only available place to drop a package.

Two of his throws struck the searinged tower and rebounded into the water, while three others were carried into the surf by the wind. The successful throw dropped a new book which Snow has written about the light's history.

L. A. BROGGI DIES IN CRASH.

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 25 (AP).—Lawrence A. Broggi, 33, of Rockford, was killed, and his wife, Lillian, was seriously injured last night when their car and an automobile driven by Elden Hein, 25, of Rockford, collided.

FENCE BECOMES BARBED PROBLEM IN DEFENSE JOB

Orders of Police and F.B.I. Conflict.

A little known regulation of the city building code has kept work on an 8 million dollar defense order from proceeding in strict accordance with government requirements for the last ten days. This was disclosed yesterday as officials of the Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation, 5301 South Western avenue, studied conflicting orders by the federal bureau of investigation and the city police.

The puzzle had its inception when the Foote brothers received gear orders in the form of subcontracts let by engine makers who have naval contracts. After getting the orders, the Foote company was told to construct a wire fence around two unenclosed sides of the plant. This order, apparently to guard against sabotage, came from the F. B. I.

Contract Let for Fence.

The contract for the fence was let to the Cyclone Fence company of Waukegan. It called for 1,000 feet of woven wire fence seven feet high—with a one foot extension arm of three strands of barbed wire.

Workmen for the fence company began to set fence posts in concrete at the plant. They set 99 posts and were about to set the last one when two city policemen appeared.

"You can't do that," the police said. "There's an ordinance against having barbed wire on a fence in the city limits."

The policemen are reported to have stood guard at the plant to see that the fence was not finished. Company police also are on guard there, having been stationed at the plant two months ago. The company guards work in three eight hour shifts.

Lawyers Study Problem.

Lawyers of the fence company are studying the problem. In turn, the following refused yesterday to discuss the trouble—F. B. I. officials, officials of the Foote company, and officials of the fence concern.

"This is the first such incident in relation to national defense that I have heard about," said Robert Knight, city deputy building commissioner. "A year ago the police were told to tour the city in search of barbed wire fences. This, apparently, is part of that inspection. I believe, however, that the company can have an ordinance passed establishing a variation in the building code to cover this particular point."

Meanwhile the Foote plant is going forward on the defense order without the fence.

FLAMES DAMAGE CHURCH.

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 25 [Special].—Fire starting when a Christmas eve vigil candle ignited a carpet resulted in damage of several thousand dollars at St. Paul's Catholic church last night. The church was unoccupied at the time.

JESSIE SMALL.

Bradenton, Fla., Dec. 25 [Special].—Miss Jessie Small, a former Michigan High school teacher, is in residence here in her pup tent which she has carried with her in the two years of her bicycle wandering about America. In that time she has ridden about 10,000 miles, averaging about 12 miles an hour and 50 miles a day. She limits herself to a dollar a day and finances her tours by speaking and writing.

SEEK BURGLARS AFTER FIRING OF TWO CHURCHES

Hyde Park police were searching last night for burglars who set fires in two churches in the district yesterday after ransacking the offices. The fire damage at the Hyde Park Methodist church, 1449 East 54th street, was estimated at $7,500. The Rev. J. Richard Drees, pastor of the church, said no money or valuables had been taken. The blaze at the Church of the Redeemer, Episcopal, 1240 East 56th street, was a small one and burned itself out. John Murphy, the church janitor, reported $50 had been taken from a poor box and telephone and cash boxes.

WARM HEARTED CHICAGO SHARES JOY WITH NEEDY

And Offers Thanks for Blessing of Peace.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Chicago maintained its reputation yesterday, Christmas day, for being the friendly city. In the true Christmas spirit it opened its heart and purse strings to thousands of unfortunate men, women, and children at dinners and parties in churches, missions, restaurants, hotels, homes, and settlement houses.

It knelt also in the peace of an American Christmas at 2,500 churches and prayed for the war stricken across the seas.

At the noon day solemn pontifical high mass in Holy Name cathedral, concluding Catholic Christmas masses that began at dawn, Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch pleaded for humility in acceptance of America's gift of peace. The cathedral was filled with 1,200 worshipers.

Observe Midnight Eucharist.

Chicago's 100 Episcopal churches celebrated the age old midnight Eucharist, and Julatta services opened the day at early hours in most Lutheran churches.

Thruout the city 300,000 Jews observed the Hanukah festival of Judaism which coincided with Christmas this year.

Canon David E. Gibson continued his Christmas tradition of more than 20 years with a turkey dinner for 1,500 homeless men in the Episcopalian Cathedral shelter at 117 North Peoria street and with the distribution of baskets to hundreds of needy families.

Fifty crippled children of the Children's Memorial hospital clinic were guests of the Edgewater Beach hotel at a dinner and entertainment in the Marine dining room. Guests of the hotel coöperated with the management in furnishing each child with gifts.

Christmas candles, toys, and books were distributed to more than 1,000 orphaned or neglected children thruout the city under the supervision of Joseph Crosby, founder and commander of the Boys' General Assembly, 316 West Erie street.

Serves Free Lunch and Beer.

Six hundred needy men and women were given a free lunch and beer between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. by Albert Bernstein at his tavern and lunch room at 676 Madison street. Hundreds of homeless men were given Christmas dinner by the 42d Ward Democratic club at 645 North Clark street.

Fifty-two underprivileged boys from Arden Shore health camp were Christmas guests of the Great Lakes Naval Training station and were given a turkey dinner, bags of candy, and toys. Fifty-one hundred pounds of turkey and 2,000 pounds of ham were consumed by 4,487 men on duty at the station.

A chicken dinner with all the trimmings, bags of fruit and candy, and packages of tobacco were distributed to the 760 prisoners at the county jail.

More than 70 members of the Coast Guard had their Christmas dinner while on duty at four stations and seven lighthouses between Indiana Harbor and Wilmette.

The regular Christmas dinner and distribution of toys for 150 boys and girls was held at St. Vincent's Infant asylum.

A turkey dinner provided the brightest moment in the Christmas of five men employed at the city's Harrison water crib, four miles off Chicago avenue.

SANTA QUILICI FREES 7, GIVES EACH CIGAR, $1

Seven prisoners at the central police station who had been charged with disorderly conduct were freed by Municipal Judge George L. Quilici yesterday and given a cigar and $1 apiece in observance of Christmas.

Judge Quilici was accompanied by his wife, Virginia, who presented the released men with dollar bills. The cigars were handed out by the judge after the informal session, which was held in the lockup.

Veteran policemen recalled that the late Judge John A. Mahoney, when a justice of the peace in the old town of Lake View, originated the practice of holding Christmas court to free minor offenders in the early 1900s. Various municipal court judges since have upheld the tradition.

REFUGEE DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Joseph Basinger, 64 years old, 1423 East 53d street, a refugee from Germany, died of a heart attack yesterday in Michael Reese hospital.

WOMAN MARKS 102D BIRTHDAY AT YULE PARTY

Mrs. Ruth Ludy celebrated her 102d birthday yesterday at 7366 Grand avenue, River Grove, where she lives with her son, James, 64 years old. The celebration has become a tradition in the Ludy family. Recently when it was discovered by family records that she had actually been born Dec. 15, instead of Christmas day, it was decided to keep tradition intact at the expense of accuracy, according to the son. Members of the family and friends attended the party. Mrs. Ludy has one other son, William, six grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

WOMAN, 87, DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Mrs. Christina Holmen, 87 years old, a resident of Chicago for 65 years, died in Augustana hospital after suffering a heart attack in her home at 4223 Addison street.

ARMY AIR CORPS SEEKS NORMAL MEN FOR SERVICE

Applicants for army air corps flying cadets need not be supermen, Capt. Lauris M. Eek, head of the board which is conducting examinations at the federal building, said yesterday.

Capt. Eek said that idea took root years ago when the average man knew nothing about flyers. He said the air corps merely is seeking young men, 20 to 26 years old, inclusive, who are normal in every respect—vision, hearing, size, weight, and general health. They must be unmarried and citizens of the United States.

"Those who fail to pass the entrance tests because of faulty eyes, a weak heart, or unsteady nerves simply are being saved from future accidents," Capt. Eek said.

The traveling board headed by Capt. Eek will continue to examine applicants thru Dec. 31.

Infant Chokes to Death on Peanut After Yule Party

John Martinez, his wife, Aurelia, and their four children had Christmas dinner yesterday in their home at 226 West 24th street. Then one of the older children gave a peanut to the youngest child, John Jr., 1 year old. Less than an hour later, despite efforts of physicians at the Postgraduate hospital and an inhalator squad, the child choked to death on the peanut.

NEW YEAR'S EVE TO BE CHICAGO'S GAYEST IN YEARS

Hotel, Night Club Party Reservations Heavy.

Chicago is going to have a bigger, noisier, and more expensive New Year's eve this year—from all advance indications—than it has seen in many years.

Hotels and night clubs report a demand for reservations far exceeding that of recent years. Already, almost a week beforehand, several are sold out, and others expect to be within a few days. Liquor dealers have laid in heavy supplies.

The ceiling in entertainment charges this year will be $12.50 [plus taxes] per person, compared with a $10 top last New Year's eve. One of the city's leading hotels will ask this price for a table, complete dinner, entertainment, and favors.

However, most of the frolicking will be on a more economical scale. In fact, this same hotel will offer, in another of its public dining rooms, a similar fare of $7.50 a person [always plus tax, of course.] Several hotels and at least one night club will charge $10 a person, and more will bring the New Year's eve entertainment cost down to $7.50. In addition, several of these places will furnish a free bottle of champagne to each pair of merrymakers.

One large loop hotel will play host to 3,000 New Year's eve revelers in three huge public rooms. Dinner and favors in one of these rooms will be $3.50 a person; in the other two the charges will be $6.50 a person, with a bottle of champagne furnished without charge to each couple. This hotel reported that more than half of its reservations already have been taken.

One night club will introduce a new low in entertainment costs this year. Admission to this club, which expects to accommodate 3,700 persons on New Year's eve, will be $1 a person; dinners will range upward from 75 cents and drinks from 25 cents. For the $1 admission entertainment and favors will be provided.

Maurice Kavanagh Resting Well After an Operation

County Commissioner Maurice Kavanagh was resting well in Presbyterian hospital last night after undergoing a gall bladder operation. Dr. Karl Meyer performed the operation. Kavanagh is chairman of the county finance committee and also served two terms as alderman of the old 18th ward [now the 27th].

ROOSEVELT JR. GETS JOB WITH N. Y. LAW FIRM

New York, Dec. 25 [Special]. — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. will start the new year off with a new job. He told friends recently that beginning Jan. 6 he will be employed by the Wall Street law firm of Wright, Gordon, Zachry and Parlin.

He said he obtained the place without any introductions. "I merely went into their employment department and asked for a job," he said. "They put me thru the regular questions—what I'd done at college, what I was interested in, as they do all applicants. Then they decided to take me on." Roosevelt, who is 26, said he didn't know just what work his employers will have him doing.

Roosevelt finished Groton in 1933, obtained his A. B., at Harvard in 1937, and was graduated from the University of Virginia Law school last June.

FIRST CHRISTMAS BABY'S A GIRL! SO ARE YULE TWINS

A baby, which probably can claim the distinction of being the first born in Chicago on Christmas day, 1940, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick I. Smith, 1544 Ardmore avenue, at 4:38 a. m. in Henrotin hospital. The baby will be called Sharon Lee.

Edward Rowlands, assistant superintendent of the Wesley Memorial hospital, who visits every patient annually on Christmas, reported that a little girl was born at 10 a. m. yesterday to Jesus and Mary Lopez of 8405 Mackinaw avenue.

Christmas twins, girls weighing 5 and 2½ pounds, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Max Weinrid, 4023 13th street, at 3:05 p. m. in Garfield Park Community hospital. They are being kept in incubators.

CHURCHILL TO ITALY.

Mr. Churchill's appeal to the Italian people to get rid of their dictator and get out of the war before they are overwhelmed by the British, who like them, or taken into protective custody by the Nazis who despise them, was another of the extraordinary episodes of this year. Probably few Italians heard him.

There are penalties in Italy, as in Germany and in parts of subjugated Europe, imposed upon any one caught listening to foreign broadcasts. It's almost worth a person's life to be detected but there are those whose curiosity gets the better of their prudence. It is supposed that some of the Italians took a chance and heard what Churchill had to say. The Italian royal family may have been interested as well as privileged to tune in.

Mr. Churchill took the tone of major prophecy with some of its lyricism. He can do that without overdoing it, and the occasion warranted the use of some exalted language. Italy unassisted may lose two wars. Graziani's report on the African disasters had preceded Churchill's address to the Italians. Il Duce's commander in Libya and Egypt praised the bravery of his men but said they had been completely overwhelmed from the start by superb equipment and superb soldiers and by tactics against which they could not defend themselves. He endeavored to take the humiliation out of it by paying tribute to the skill, audacity, and resources of the enemy. The march on Suez has been smashed and if Italy doesn't get help more disasters may follow.

The Italian official résumé of the war lists 27 warships as fleet casualties, including 23 acknowledged to have been sunk. The most spectacular blow was the one delivered at the fleet as it slept at Taranto and that almost put Mussolini's navy out of action. The Greeks continue their astonishing campaign and the Fascists' military adventures seem to be at a low ebb. Churchill's appeal was to the royal family, the army, and the people to depose the man who had led them into such enterprises, who had turned them against their best friends, who had allied them with an insolent power, and who was bringing ruin upon them.

If the remedy is found in calling in Hitler's divisions, Italy's military efforts can be bolstered up but the price will be one the Italian people will dislike to pay. Hitler can keep Mussolini in power, he can protect Italian territory, at least Italy in Europe if not in the empire, but if he does so he probably will treat the Fascist government as subordinate and subject to his orders. That will leave very little distinction between Italy and Rumania, or even Belgium, Denmark, or any other Nazi controled country. For Mussolini himself the war is already almost a complete catastrophe.

THE NOBLE ART.

The distinguished Golden Glover and present heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, took five rounds recently to close one eye of the French Canadian, Al McCoy. Mr. McCoy, with his eye closed, did not come out for the sixth round. Mr. Louis, in his dressing room after the bout, said he must have looked very bad in the ring and felt that five months' layoff had spoiled his timing. He wasn't what he ought to be.

In this layoff Joe had been doing some political campaigning. He was guest speaker for the Republican national committee in support of Willkie and did his modest bit as a distinguished national figure. Many of us can remember 'way back when in this and many other states the prohibition of prize fighting covered many impressive pages of the statute book. Illinois was particularly agin it. Possibly some legislators must have lost some bets on a celebrated fixed fight.

The long teeth in our laws seem to have been put there by some very provoked men who probably were out of pocket. They did their work so well that it became a felony for a pugilist in training for a fight anywhere, in any other state, even to do road work here, and if a citizen strolling in Lincoln park had stopped to see a man in trunks, jogging along the road, and later it was discovered that this was a training stunt, the citizen as well as the fighter would have been liable to severe fine and other punishment.

Many people don't care to see one person sticking a glove in another person's nose or eye, but enough persons do care to see it to make the profession very profitable to its practitioners and, more than that, it is now to be noted that the most successful practitioners, in their active life and in retirement, are regarded as distinguished, useful, and highly respectable members of the community.

Mr. Gene Tunney is a recognized leader in movements for the proper upbringing of the young and of the development of the manly qualities in youth. He is a prominent citizen, very welcome at the best banquets. Mr. Louis, the Alabama boy who made good, is in almost the same demand where good works are planned and performed.

Not all our leading glove pushers make the best of their opportunities to encourage good civic movements, but the opportunity is there for them. Some of them like to play around too much and some of them are a trifle dumb. But it is, in its fashion, encouraging to see that we have taken what used to be regarded as a social problem and have rescued the ring performers from the alley and the shadow of the jail and have made many of them solvent and highly regarded citizens. We can't handle all our social problems with such success, but we surely have handled this one.

UNION INITIATION FEES.

There has been widely expressed public resentment at the fact that men seeking work on national defense projects have had to pay union initiation fees, sometimes amounting to hundreds of dollars, to get and hold their jobs. Just why defense program jobs should be a special case it is hard to understand. It is a no more heinous offense to charge a man an unjustified fee for the right to work on a battleship or cantonment than it is to charge him such a fee for the right to work at any other job.

This does not mean all union initiation fees are unjustified. Membership in a large number of American trade unions gives a workman certain tangible benefits derived from reserves that earlier members of the union have contributed over a period of years.

Obviously it is fair that the newcomer contribute his share of these reserve funds before he share in the benefits that they provide. It is also fair that he pay his share of the investment in property used by the union in the conduct of its business. These are all charges that any actuary or accountant could determine.

But it is rare that there is any relation between initiation fees and what might be termed the existing members' prior investments. An example is the Washington, D. C., local of the electricians' union, whose $300 initiation fee recently has been subjected to congressional scrutiny. There are more than 200,000 members in this international union. If the fee were based on a prorata share of union assets those assets would exceed $60,000,000.

They do not, of course, approach that sum. Ed J. Brown, international president of the union, defended the $300 fee in a statement which, after listing the tangible assets of the organization, referred to "other assets just as real and important as physical property—skill, prestige, and a preference in jobs."

Now, skill is something that is not required with a union card. It ought to be a requisite to holding such a card. Usually it is, but sometimes it isn't, particularly when a racketeer is in a position to peddle the card. And as for preference in jobs, that is merely a polite method of saying that the applicant is paying a monopoly group for the privilege of sharing in their monopoly.

If unions are to be regarded thus—as privately organized societies enjoying a monopoly of a particular type of work—then the Wagner act is one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated, since it gives those special and self-restricted groups and their officers the right to exploit all other workmen who wish to follow the trade on which a particular union has staked its claim.

But if the Wagner act is designed to benefit all laboring people, then there is no justification in union monopoly of jobs and therefore no excuse for a union making an excessive charge for membership. If unions are to continue to enjoy the benefits of the Wagner act and other special legislation they must abolish the restrictions designed to create a scarcity of labor in their field of employment. They must grant membership to any applicant of good character who can demonstrate skill equal to the minimum that the union requires employers of its members to accept, on the payment of an initiation fee commensurate with the applicant's share of the union's tangible assets.

NEGROES IN DEFENSE INDUSTRIES.

The Chicago Urban league calls attention to inability of Negroes to obtain employment on national defense projects. The defense commission has said that "workers should not be discriminated against because of age, sex, race, or color," but this policy has not been carried into practice. Some employers, the league finds, refuse to give employment to Negro men and women even when they are skilled craftsmen in trades in which there is a shortage of trained workmen. Some trade unions, while refusing to admit Negroes to membership, at the same time maintain a monopoly of the work. Negroes are not admitted to apprenticeships in these unions. The league finds that the discrimination extends even to "certain types of training in one of our tax supported public schools."

It is not easy to uproot long standing prejudices and customs. The point of the league's protest, as we read it, is not that every discrimination should be instantly removed but that no effort is being made to remove any of them, even tho they are operating to retard the rearmament program, and even tho they run counter to the expressed policy of the government in this matter.

That is a matter for deep regret; but it should surprise no one who has followed the course of the present administration these last eight years. To hear the New Dealers tell it they are devoted to the welfare of the unfortunate, the downtrodden, the handicapped. They talk big but their real aim is to create and maintain an enormous army of dependents in the cities as on the farms. Thus, posing as the friends of the Negro, the New Dealers have done nothing more for him than to pauperize him.

The New Deal used the Negroes in the 1936 election and again in the 1940 election. The party of the solid south became also the party of tens of thousands of Negro voters in northern industrial cities. Now that the election has been won, the promises—both the expressed ones and the implied ones—have been conveniently forgotten.

CAPTAIN WITHOUT A SHIP.

[New York Sun.]

Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, sometime master of the City of Flint, on Friday received the navy cross, awarded with a citation for "skill, fine judgment, and devotion to duty." Capt. Gainard has an honored decoration, but he hasn't a ship. In an interview with the Washington Post the skipper who made the name of the City of Flint known the world around explained why he is idle. He said:

"No private owner could afford to give me a ship. The National Maritime union wouldn't go as far out on a limb as to deny me a crew. They'd send me a crew of such hardened troublemakers I'd never finish the voyage."

Two years ago members of the crew of Capt. Gainard's ship struck while the vessel was in the harbor of Montevideo. As a result of that strike several members of the crew were tried in Baltimore on charges of mutiny and convicted. Because of that mortal offense to the N. M. U. Capt. Gainard has not been to sea since last January, when he brought the City of Flint into Baltimore harbor.

A SMALL RIVER, BUT OUR OWN.

A Christmas card that contributes to history must be considered as a distinguished novelty. We have come into possession of such a "card," really a booklet, and we're placing it in our library, confident that it will become, in due time, a rare item and a benefit to our heirs.

This brochure, privately printed in an edition of 250 copies for Christmas distribution, bears the title, "The Des Plaines River, 1673-1940: A Brief Consideration of Its Names and History." Hermon Dunlap Smith, Chicago insurance man, is the author, and must be credited with an excellent job of historical research. He had to turn over several libraries to prepare the material for these 28 well written pages.

If you should want to get the facts regarding the Chicago portage, from its crossing by Marquette and Joliet until it became obsolete about 100 years ago, this booklet will save you some wearisome digging. It was a place that few men wanted to cross again, according to the testimony of Gurdon Hubbard [1817] and Gen. Lewis Cass [1827], quoted in Mr. Smith's text. Drowning in mud, torture by leeches, poisoning by water snakes, and agony from mosquito bites were among its hazards.

Mr. Smith has made a detailed study of the various names that have been given the Des Plaines. He presents a table of 85 references to the river, up to 1880, which shows the development of the name thru about 30 variations. Its earliest name, given in "The Jesuit Relations," was the St. Louis; next in order, by an unknown cartographer in 1674, came La Divine. The latter was a Quebec nickname for the Countess de Frontenac.

THE INNKEEPER SPEAKS.

My hostel sheltered many guests that night,
And surely I would not have turned away
Those strangers had I known their helpless plight;
But noise of crowds and loud requests all day
Had dulled my ears. I would have had them rest,
Have found some place for her to lay her head;
Tho wearied, still I would have seen the best
Was given them—if some one had just said.

They told me that there was a wondrous star
That night above the stable, clear it shone,
And that a song came o'er the hills afar,
The sweetest music they had ever known.
And must this stigma ever rest on me?
These words resound like clanging bells of doom
Thru all the eons of eternity,
He sent them from the inn. "There was no room."

The Duke Discusses Yule.

Seems to me, Mr. Linemaster, that there was an argument recently as to the origin of tha word "Yule," and you gave us tha low-down in a very high-class manner. Now I aint a tellin ya how to run yer bizness, but that there word was invented by tha mama right before Xmas 20 yrs. ago, and every year at this time its part of her theme song. Tha chorus goes:

Yule use 1 buck to cover your lunk-head brother
An yule spend ½ bits on your ole-man fer sumthin or other
As for your lame-brain sister fer 50c yule find a gift fer her neck
Whether its a box of soap or a hunk of rope
With either, yule never go wrong," by hek."

About this time every year we sit down an decide how 18 smackers is gonna be dished between my relations and hern. She's very fair as you can see—allowing only $16 fer her mootchers an leavin 2 frog-skins fer my dear folks. When I squawks she asks if her tribe aint worth $16, an then gets sore when I ask how much do they weigh. This year her granpaw is slated fer a necktie; he's got a beard a foot long so it seems to be a practical gift [providing he can hook it on his bottom vest button]. Her old-maid sister is gonna get a silk night-gown—who's ever gonna see it I cant figger. Putting spats on a carpse woodn' be quite as goofy. Fer her oldest brother who's still in the klink, she's giving him a wrist watch. I guess that's so's he'll have more time on his hand. Every year she gives her uncle Lemuel a bottle of bay-rum. Last time he was over, he hinted to me that he'd rather have sumthin else, claiming tha stuff raises hell with his ulcers. Tha kid sister, who works in tha tannery, generally gets a bottle of perfyume. This always brings us a letter of thanks from her boy friend. I was gonna be a sport this year an buy tha mama a swell fur coat.

THIS, TOO, SHALL PASS.

There have been other Christmases when fear
And doubt have filled the mind, and chilled the heart,
When happiness, and sympathy and cheer
Have seemed as alien, as far apart
From us as they do now. And there have been
In all these Christmases, some hardy ones
Who thru the gathering storm clouds still have seen
The promise of a thousand morrows' suns.
The storms have passed. The sunshine has prevailed.
This, too, shall pass. O, heart! Be not dismayed,
By wars alarmed, and fears and doubts assailed!
Still is the Prince of Peace in joy arrayed.
His Day is day of days—a refuge, still.
He has not failed us yet. He never will!

A Brainstorm in Railroad Slang.

For 20 years I have considered myself a B. R. S.—Bachelor of Railroad Slang. Recently down in the 18th street yards, I mentioned a Snake and a switchman corrected me, saying I meant Stinger. Hevings to Betsy! How long, says I, has a Snake been a Stinger? 'Bout 10 years. Honestly, you could have knocked me over with the Merchandise Mart—to think the old master of slang was slipping. This began to prey on my one cell cerebrum, and finally I had to do some research or go off my feed. At last I got the answer from a Milwaukee shack—Snakes are still Snakes, and Stingers are Stingers—it all depends upon which brotherhood card they carry.

YES! BABES HAVE COLDS.

FROM now until next June the airways of infants and young children will become the chief concern of the family doctor. Feeding problems, for the most part, have been solved, but we have made few gains in preventing virus infections of the nose and throat.

Unfortunately, a tot can rarely encounter one of these bouts without, at the same time, acquiring sinus trouble. We should recall that the ethmoid and maxillary rooms within the skull are present at birth. The sphenoid develops at the age of 3 and the frontal spaces about the fifth year. While these bony compartments are small in size, nevertheless, their openings are quite free and organisms have little difficulty in reaching the spaces, or traveling along another pathway to the middle ear.

In general, the youngster with a cold presents no symptoms not familiar to his parents. There is stoppage of the nose [which later discharges], sore throat, and considerable discomfort. Not infrequently glands along the side of the neck will enlarge, and occasionally complications will appear such as earache and ulcers on the tongue or on the inner surfaces of the lips. Now and then the lymph structures will harbor so many germs of certain types that tiny abscesses will form.

Little ones usually swallow mucus that drips downward into the throat. When these secretions contain pus, digestive upsets may ensue. A long continued siege—one that lasts for several weeks—usually means that the organisms have become well hidden. All the more reason then for building resistance to the point where they may be destroyed.

When earache is complained of, the drum may rupture spontaneously before we have an opportunity to make a slight cut to release the "corruption" within. This latter procedure is painful and a local anesthetic should always be employed with enough deadening so that the incision will not be felt. When there is danger of mastoid infection, many physicians advise sulfanilamide or one of its many compounds.

Whether we call the ailment influenza or a cold makes very little difference. It is a condition which may spread in any direction—down the trachea into the bronchi, or upward into the ear space. As a rule we can distinguish between the two by the onset. If there are chilly feelings with a sudden fever, with the patient weak and prostrated, we may assume that "flu" is the culprit. Furthermore, headache, loss of appetite, vomiting, etc., are characteristic. If the respiratory passages are involved, a cough usually appears three or four days later. In cases of this sort, the malady is likely to be more prolonged in children than in adults.

For a stopped nose in a baby a soft rubber ear syringe may be utilized. The apparatus must be cleansed carefully [boiled] before using. The bulb is then compressed and the tip is inserted into the nostril about ¼ inch. When the fingers are released, a mild suction is produced which will empty the passageway. Altho the nozzle reaches but a short distance into the nose, the vacuum is strong enough to pull the thick, sticky material outward. The resulting freedom in breathing more than repays the effort.

This plan is suggested because children cannot blow their noses—in fact, they should not, as they may force microbes up the Eustachian tubes. Then, too, this syringing method has the advantage of encouraging more of a forward flow of the secretions, thru cleaning the wide openings of the passages.

NOT MUCH DIFFERENCE.

FROM DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS JR.

Westridge, Pacific Palisades, Cal., Dec. 16.—I would appreciate the opportunity to answer briefly your editorial of the 13th inst., entitled "The War Shouters."

I appreciate the fact that your policy is in opposition to that of the William Allen White Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, but I am persuaded that your respect for the ethics of journalism is such that you will give adequate prominence to the "opposition's" views.

First, I must emphatically deny that the defend America committee has any intention whatsoever of putting this country into war. That such a suggestion has been made is, indeed, a compliment to the influence and support we enjoy thruout the country. But if it were so, it is ridiculous to assume that we could do it. After all, the United States is composed, for the most part, of literate, intelligent and free men who exist on the world's highest standard of living. If we have stayed out of the war so far, and if we go into or stay out of it in the future, it is only because the people of this country wish it so. Such momentous decisions can never be enforced by the efforts of any group. The recent election has incontrovertibly proven that the people can make up their own minds despite the advice and warnings given them by the majority of the press.

Second, I would like to dispute your assumption that because many of the supporters of the White committee are connected with the theatrical profession, they are unsuited by temperament for the business of presenting sound views to their fellow citizens. I cannot but feel that were these people to have pledged their adherence to the cause of the isolationists of the America First committee, they would have been hailed as sound and profoundly thoughtful citizens.

Surely, these people, whose living depends in a great measure on the contact and good will they create with the great masses, must possess a knowledge of the country transcending sectional or purely local boundaries. Those who have been more successful are obliged to acquaint themselves with domestic and foreign affairs, insofar as it affects their business. When one considers for a moment that the motion picture industry, alone, is the fourth largest in the nation it cannot be seriously suggested that such a successful enterprise could be run by emotionally unstable scatterbrains. Rather would I propose that these people in the theatrical profession, of whom Senator Holt complains, hold opinions of equal value to those belonging to any other lay profession or business in the country.

If Admiral Stanley can unequivocally state that the security of America depends on our unstinted aid to the British, it cannot be denied that his word balances the opposite view taken by Gen. Johnson. If the representatives or heads of the vast theatrical enterprises concur in the policies of the White committee, they can certainly be no less important than the appeasing pleas of the head of Sears Roebuck, Gen. Wood. It is an unforgivable error of judgment, taste, and accuracy for you to suggest that others of our supporters are guided by either personal or social interests in Britain. That accusation smacks of "smearing" and has no justification in fact.

It is my understanding that the White Committee to Defend America is convinced that a conference table settlement with the axis powers could lead to nothing but disaster for ourselves. The record of the past years, and especially the Munich agreement, has proved that point. We are also aware that responsible heads of the Nazi government have time and again stated their ambition to destroy all democratic institutions in the world. Hitler himself has written in "Mein Kampf," and repeated in subsequent speeches, that a complete conquest of the world is necessary before true peace can be discussed with him. Beyond these sample warnings we have taken cognizance of the unprecedented size of our rearmament program. If we were not fearing a potential enemy, such rearmament would not have been necessary.

Therefore, inasmuch as our army will not be ready for two years or our navy for six, we feel that the most cautious, selfish move we can make is to supply the British with all they need to combat the totalitarian revolution. We feel it is better to err on the side of caution than to take the chance that the Fascist powers will be defeated by wishful thinking. We also feel that, as Americans, we are obliged to do more than pay lip service to the religion of freedom. We feel that under no circumstances, short of a disavowal of our inherited rights, could we ever adjust ourselves to a dictatorial hegemony of the world.

Because, as Mr. White said, "The world cannot live nine-tenths slave and one-tenth free," we fear that the competition of high free standards of living may not be able to cope with slave labor, and that we in the long run will be the losers.

In conclusion, allow me to suggest that it is the essence of our American system that two people can have conflicting views in regard to national problems without either of them forfeiting his claim to national loyalty.

I have no doubt that most of the America First group are sincere in their conviction that a German victory will have no effect on us. We, on the other hand, are equally sincere and equally patriotic in our conviction that the defense and security of the United States of America is, for the most part, dependent on all the aid we can give to the British and their allies.

PRIORITY.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Today's TRIBUNE states that according to the Rev. Father Leander Conley of St. Peter's church, Polk and Clark streets, St. Peter's was the first church to erect an outside crèche [in the city], four years ago. To the contrary, the Church of the Redeemer, 56th and Blackstone, [Episcopal] had an outside crèche during the Christmastide of 1929 and for some years following. This crèche was built by the Rev. Father William Horstick, then assistant rector of the parish.

LAND PURCHASE.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I purchased a lake lot in northern Wisconsin from the county and received a deed but no abstract or other papers that would show whether the title was clear. In our letters the county agent said the title was clear but when I asked for further papers in addition to the deed they said that at that price only a deed was furnished and offered to refund my money if desired.

This was several weeks ago and we have not had the lot recorded as yet as we do not know whether we will be taking any chances by having it in our name.

2. Would you advise having this recorded?

3. Would the abstract be on record anywhere that we could examine it?

4. We want the lot and as it was cheap we do not wish to engage a lawyer but do not wish to run the risk of having an old mortgage or obligation against us. Is this likely in dealing with the county and on land that has apparently never been subdivided before? B. M.

1. In our opinion the Wisconsin law and procedure as to tax deeds render it unsafe for a nonresident to own Wisconsin land unless he is prepared to employ a local representative to guard his interest. We base this opinion on the following three respects in which the protection usual here is not extended to the fee owner there. First, there is no uniform practice of mailing notice to the previous taxpayer that the property is being sold for taxes. Second, the fact that the property has been sold for taxes is not noted on his subsequent tax bills during the time allowed for redemption. Third, the courts sustain a tax deed as defeating the fee. As a result it is possible [and sometimes actually happens] that the fee owner's title is taken away from him without notice for no other fault than overlooking one year's tax payment.

2. In general a real estate purchaser should record his deed, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. No. The word "abstract" means that it is an abstract or summary of instruments that are of record, but the summary itself is not recorded.

4. Ordinarily we advise a real estate purchaser to be represented by an attorney. The wisdom of your economy depends in part on how much money you are investing.

U. of C. Scientist's Wife Tells of Perilous Trip.

The story of a perilous 6,000 mile trip by ship, train, and plane from a town in northeastern Syria to Chicago was told yesterday by Mrs. Calvin McEwan, wife of a University of Chicago archeologist.

Mrs. McEwan and her two children, Billy, 6 years old, and Johnny, 4, are home after a 70 day trip from the site of the Theodore Marriner Memorial expedition's excavations near Ras el-Ain, Syria. Her husband is field director of the expedition, which is sponsored jointly by the Oriental institute of the university and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Plane Downed by Japanese.

Dr. McEwan, who remained with the expedition, accompanied his family to Bagdad via the new Berlin to Bagdad railway. The three then took off on a three and a half day airplane trip to Rangoon, Burma. There they learned that the plane on which they were scheduled to leave for Singapore had been shot down by Japanese flyers. After a week's delay, however, they obtained passage on a British plane and arrived in Singapore two days later. They sailed for San Francisco, Cal., on an American ship.

Mrs. McEwan arrived in Chicago with a small gray suitcase containing, in the opinion of Dr. John A. Wilson, director of the Oriental institute, "unestimated thousands of dollars' worth of objects."

Suitcase Constantly at Side.

She said the suitcase had not left her side since she started home Sept. 25. It contained two ancient statues, a dozen cuneiform clay tablets, several small carved ivory decorations, and two fragile glass beakers brought to Syria by Roman soldiers more than 1,500 years ago.

The two 11 inch limestone statues represent the god and goddess of fertility and date from about 1,000 B.C., according to Dr. Wilson. They are the first of their type to be discovered in Syria.

Dr. Wilson said the glass beakers are the first of their type to be excavated anywhere.

CITY EMPLOYES OF CICERO GET GIFT: BACK PAY

3 Months Still Due; Regime Defended.

Christmas seemed a bit brighter yesterday for 300 Cicero policemen, firemen, and other city employés who received one month's share of four months' back pay which is due them. The payment, totaling $55,000, will be the last until some time after New Year's day, however.

"It's a bad situation," said Michael F. Ryan, attorney for the policemen and firemen in a suit pending in Superior court to compel payment of the overdue salaries. "How can the morale of these essential workers be kept up if the situation continues?"

Ryan challenged Cicero officials to explain why their treasury is bare while Oak Park, with a property valuation about the same as Cicero's, but without Cicero's revenue from taverns, is not in financial difficulty and is paying its employés on time.

President Defends Officials.

George Stedronsky, president of Cicero, replied:

"Oak Park is a silk stocking place while Cicero has a lot of poor people. Do you think we could make a profit on our water sales, or charge sewer rent, as Oak Park does? Why, our people would run us out of town!"

He denied Ryan's assertion that police and fire department morale is endangered by the payless paydays.

"I'm starting my second four-year term," Stedronsky said. "When I came in the police and firemen were 23 months behind in their pay.

"Their morale is better now. When I took office the police station was no better than a barn, and the squad cars were broken down. Now they've got a fine station and rented squad cars, new every year, at a saving, too. They've got a pension fund they didn't have in 1934."

Lauds Police Department.

Cicero stands near the top of the list in the effectiveness of its police in keeping crime down, he said.

"You can't get something for nothing," he said. "We've got 78 policemen. Maybe that's where we could save money. Maybe we'll have to. Ordinarily you figure one policeman for each 1,000 of population. Our population in the new census is 64,000, down 2,000 from 1930."

Fire protection standards, with 80 firemen divided among five stations, are high, he said.

Real estate tax collections stand at about 80 per cent. Cicero has not indulged in the common practice of refunding a portion of its bond issues when they come due, he said. License fees, cut in 1933, would make up much of the deficit if they were restored to former levels, and this possibility is being studied, he said.

SO WILMA'S ROMANCE ENDS TODAY IN PLANE RIDE WITH A SHERIFF

A plane ride with the sheriff today, back to her home in Safford, Ariz., will end the summer romance of Wilma Gainey, 16 years old, who came here intending to marry Joseph Ballaman, 44, of New York, a civil engineer. She was met at the train by detectives Sunday at the request of Arizona authorities and held in the juvenile detention home.

Sheriff Emert Kempton of Safford yesterday questioned Ballaman, who was being held by Central police, but said he wished to make no charges. Federal agents also questioned him and said they would take no action. Detective James Traut said a technical charge of disorderly conduct would be placed against Ballaman.

Sheriff Kempton said Ballaman met the girl last summer on a train in Arizona, corresponded with her, and last week sent her a ticket to Chicago after they agreed to meet here and marry.

Gary Fireman Kills Himself After Minor Car Accident

Fire Lieut. Harry W. Kletzman, 47 years old, of the Gary fire department, struck an electric light pole in Gary with his automobile early yesterday. He was uninjured and continued on to his home at 238 East Ridge road. Half an hour later neighbors heard a shotgun blast in Kletzman's home. Kletzman was found dead on the floor, a shotgun at his side. He was a widower and lived alone.

DIES OF HEAD INJURIES.

An unidentified man about 50 years old died of head injuries yesterday in County hospital after he had been found unconscious in a doorway at 713 Willow street.

1 KILLED, 3 HURT CRITICALLY AS 3 CARS COLLIDE

Crash Occurs in Roosevelt Road in Hillside.

Sam Fugazzotto, 26 years old, 1929 Erie street, was killed yesterday and three persons were injured critically in a three car collision at Roosevelt and Wolf roads in Hillside.

Chief Martin Stone of the Hillside police said two of the cars were headed east in Roosevelt road when one sidewiped the other and was thrown into a collision with a car headed west. Those seriously injured are Tony Yacullo, 45, Mrs. Rose Saracco, and Miss Della Saracco, all of 1900 Erie street. Several other persons suffered minor injuries.

Oak Park Girl Killed.

Miss Anita De Cosimo, 27, of 19 West Harrison street, Oak Park, was killed last night when the automobile in which she was riding left the road and crashed into a tree at 147th street and Oak Park avenue in Orland township. Edward Templar, 28, 218 Pine avenue, another passenger in the car, was severely injured and was taken to St. Francis hospital in Blue Island. The others in the car, Frank Tannhausen, 37; his wife, Marie, 25, and their son, Joseph, 14 months old, of the Oak Park address, were slightly injured. Miss De Cosimo was a sister of Mrs. Tannhausen.

Thomas Fulgham, 60, was killed by a hit and run driver at 26th street and Shields avenue. He lived at 2615 Shields avenue.

Frank Badorski, 52 of 564 Herkimer street, Joliet, was killed when he was struck by an automobile at Collins and Columbia streets, Joliet. The driver was Joseph Shroba, 708 Meeker street, Joliet.

Seek Driver in Fatal Crash.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, 63, of 5550 Wells street, was injured fatally when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by another car at 95th street and Hamilton avenue. Her brother, the Rev. John P. Doran, pastor of St. Brendan's Catholic church, 1205 West Marquette road, who was driving with her, was injured slightly. The driver of the other car fled on foot after the accident and is being sought by Gresham police.

Charles Reidler, 27, of 5301 Benton street, Downers Grove, was killed and John Ward Seabury, 19, of 420 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park, was injured when their automobiles collided in route 66, a mile east of Downers Grove road. Seabury was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet. He is a student at Yale university and is a son of Charles Ward Seabury, vice president of Marsh & McLennan, a fire insurance brokerage house.

Charles Marquardt, 26, of 15300 Myrtle avenue, Harvey, was killed Tuesday night and four others were injured when the car he was driving overturned in highway 17 about 19 miles west of Kankakee in Livingston county.

Anthony Petraitis, 54, a WPA worker, of 3440 Wallace street, died in Southtown hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Monday when he was hit by an automobile at 43d street and Western avenue. Erwin Zick, 3658 South Winchester avenue, was the driver.

Pedestrian, Hit by Car, Dies.

John Welch, 47, of 1737 37th avenue, Melrose Park, died in Franklin Boulevard hospital. He was struck by an automobile Tuesday at Hamlin and Chicago avenues. Casimir Kregall, 1340 North Western avenue, was the driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 882 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 647 were killed in Chicago, where 23,513 were injured in traffic during the same period.

BLOWOUT CRASH KILLS 7, INJURES 4, IN NEBRASKA

Lexington, Neb., Dec. 25 (AP).—A broadside smash of one car into another killed seven persons near here today and injured four others, two of them critically.

Highway Patrolman Leo Knudsen said a rear tire on an auto driven by Joe Lawrence of Chicago blew out, sending it crosswise into the path of a car driven by Frederick Degraw of Mitchell, Neb.

The dead:

Leonard Irvin, about 32, of Redding, Cal., his daughter, Edith, 8; Carl Peterson, 19, on furlough from Fort Ord, Cal., en route to McNab, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. DeGraw, Mitchell, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Lou Suplee, Mitchell, Neb., who were riding with the DeGraws.

The injured: Arthur Kaupanger, Pondosa, Cal.; Earl McPherson, Long Beach, Cal.; Charles Angler, Spencerville, Ind., serious condition; Joe Lawrence, Chicago.

DIG UP AGES OLD INDIAN VILLAGE IN HILLS OF VIRGINIA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 (AP).—Workmen building the skyline drive, picturesque federal highway thru the Blue Ridge mountains, have uncovered the site of an Indian village which the Smithsonian institution said today may be one of the oldest inhabited places in eastern North America.

The site is in the Shenandoah National park of Virginia at the foot of the peaks of Otter mountain.

Reporting today on the investigations of one of its archeologists, David I. Bushnell Jr., the Smithsonian institution said the evidence indicated that three or four groups of tribes, each with a distinct culture, had lived in this hemlock-shaded shelter long before the red men who met the first white explorers went into Virginia.

ALEX AND MARIE BELIEVE IN THAT FABLED FOUNTAIN

Make a Date in Florida—Under a Date Palm.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Dec. 25 [Special].—She hopped about their end of the shuffle board court on her skinny little legs as spry as a canary bird. Still a lot of life there. She'd have to be wet to balance a hundredweight and she was well over 60, but she certainly was pert.

Thanks again for the Christmas present, Alex," she said, arranging her disks with her cue. "The gloves were nice, Alex, and don't misunderstand what I'm about to say. I had hoped from the way you have been acting the last couple of weeks that Santa would be a bit more generous."

A Typical Florida Widow.

"Indeed," he clicked his false teeth and shoved his first shot. The disk slid down the cement court, passed the 10 point at the forward corner of the painted triangle at the other end, and stopped over the "ten off" lettering.

"You're getting to be a typical Florida widow," he muttered, looking up thru the palms to avoid her eyes that he knew were a smoky purple.

They finished their eight shots in silence and gave little attention when the score was called by their partners, an elderly Illinois couple, from the other end of the court. He sat on the bench under a date palm while the other couple shot. His legs weren't much good for standing any more. His left leg ached unless he gave it lots of sunshine. That's the reason he gave for coming to Florida every winter—every winter since 1927.

In the spring of 1927 his automobile had been hit by a train, near Springfield, Ill. A broken bone doesn't heal well when you're over 50. The accident had started him collecting $125 a month annuity on an insurance policy. The same accident had made him a widower.

She's a Pert Little Thing.

The pert little thing, in a gingham dress that exposed tanned shoulder blades, sat on the bench beside him and they pretended concentration upon the disks sliding towards them. She knew about his insurance policy. He had told her ten days ago while they sat together at the cottage camp's weekly open air concert. There had been a bright moon and a warm salty breeze had stirred the fronds over their heads.

Not that she was acquisitive. She had $100 a month of her own from an insurance company, enough for her simple needs. However, as a veteran household budgeteer, she had contemplated what a comfortable home could be managed in one of those small towns in northern Florida on $225 a month. Alex was funny sometimes but a likeable old codger, always saying "indeed" instead of talking. She liked the way his white hair grew to a point on his forehead.

Alex Does Some Thinking.

"Isn't this a perfect Christmas day?" she asked. The question was pleasant, timely, and topical. But he didn't answer. He was thinking. Hasty marriages among winter resorters were notorious. But a fellow really has to have a wife to be sure of company all the time. With this Florida sunshine, orange juice and seafood, he ought to be good for another ten years. And isn't she a neat little thing?

"I was just thinking," he replied to a second question, "that I'd like to go to the outdoor movies with you tonight."

"After a Christmas dinner together at the cafeteria?"

"You're indeed a gold digger, aren't you?" he laughed, hoping thereby to erase the previous unpleasantry over the Christmas gift. His false teeth, she noticed, weren't bad looking at all.

"What kind of a palm is that behind you?" she asked.

It's a Date, They Agree.

"It's a date," he replied not wavering his gaze from her eyes, smoky blue behind the lenses of her glasses.

"All right, it's a date," she said, jumping to her feet to resume the shuffle board game.

"Pick me up at my cottage at seven."

"Indeed," he responded, and this time the word meant enthusiastic agreement.

P. S.—Readers, this reporter was assigned to write the Florida scene. The report would be incomplete without an episode on the romance in the conducive environment of the resort colonies. Knowing Alex and Marie as we learned to know them in a cottage and trailer camp near here, we're sure they'll forgive this morning's eavesdropping from an adjacent shuffleboard court.

KIN OF EX-JUDGE IS FOUND SLAIN IN JOLIET HOME

A. S. MacGillvray, brother-in-law of former Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Will county, was found dead last night in the Wilson home at 500 Fourth avenue, Joliet. He had cut his throat, according to police. MacGillvray, who was a widower; 65 years old, and lived in Carlock, McLean county, had been visiting with the Wilsons for the last few weeks. He had been ill, police were told. Wilson and his wife found the body when they returned home after spending the evening out.

La Salle Pastor Falls Dead at Altar on Christmas Day

La Salle, Ill., Dec. 25 (AP).—As the bells of his church pealed forth tidings of holiday cheer, the Rev. Quinter Kephart, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, fell dead on the altar during Christmas services. Altho he had been ill for some time, Mrs. Kephart said her husband had insisted on conducting the holiday service. The minister fell dead as he was administering Communion to members of his congregation.

W-G-N PRESENTS ANNA NEAGLE AS NANETTE TODAY

Offers Radio Version of New Picture.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Anna Neagle, the versatile British comedienne, songstress, and character actress, will be featured for the second time this year in a radio première of the motion picture in which she is starred when she appears tonight in "No, No, Nanette" over W-G-N and the Mutual network. The radio adaptation of her new R-K-O picture will highlight the presentation of the In Chicago Tonight program from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Bob Jellison, who is often featured in W-G-N Theater of the Air productions on Saturday evenings, will play the leading male rôle of Jimmie Smith, uncle of the vivacious Nanette, who will be portrayed by Miss Neagle.

Story of Gold Diggers.

The story of the motion picture, currently at the Palace theater, revolves about the adventures of Uncle Jimmie with a trio of gold diggers who have persuaded him to advance their careers.

The company of supporting actors will include Cornelia Osgood as Susan Smith, John Goldsworthy as Remington, Bret Morrison as Tom Gillespie, Willard Waterman as Bill Trainor, Donna Reade as Sonya Sonyavitch, Fran Carlon as Winnie Revere, Marvin Mueller as Hutchinson, and Herb Butterfield as Stillwater.

The gay, captivating melodies of "No, No, Nanette" will be presented by the W-G-N Dance orchestra directed by Harold Stokes. The entire production will be directed by William A. Bacher, chief of programs and production of W-G-N.

Morrison in Singing Rôle.

Bret Morrison will be called upon to perform as a singer as well as an actor. This will be no new radio experience for him. When he first appeared on W-G-N several years ago he was featured in a musical-dramatic serial.

Miss Neagle appeared last spring in the radio première of "Irene" on Fifth Row Center.

Bob Jellison has appeared in most of the operettas on W-G-N this season. He specializes in comedy rôles. He played King Louis in the "Vagabond King," the sheriff of Nottingham in "Robin Hood," and the marriage broker in "Madame Butterfly."

EXPECT CURRAN'S CHOICE AS G. O. P. CHAIRMAN IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—Selection of Thomas J. Curran, leader of the tenth assembly district, as chairman of the New York County Republican committee is expected to be agreed on tomorrow at a conference of district leaders.

Election of a new county chairman to succeed Congressman Elect Kenneth F. Simpson will take place Monday night at a meeting of the county committee. There was said to be no doubt that the county committee would ratify any agreement reached by the district leaders. Selection of Curran, it was said, will be satisfactory to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

With the retirement of Simpson from party position and the selection of Curran as county chairman, the local Republican organization, it is believed, will support Dewey for nomination for any office he may seek, certainly for governor in 1942 and possibly for the presidential nomination in 1944.

Student Air Pilot Crashes; Two Passengers Killed

Youngstown, O., Dec. 25 (AP).—Two Youngstown Steel workers were killed and a student pilot was injured critically today when a New Castle [Pa.] plane crashed on the runway of the new municipal airport at Vienna, 10 miles north of here. The dead were John Henry Fox, 25, and Eugene C. Kaluczky, 21. Alfred Rossi, 20, also of Youngstown, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries.

OBITUARIES

Joseph Clarkson Borden.

Services for Joseph Clarkson Borden, former president of the Chicago Mercantile exchange, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 35 North La Grange road, La Grange. Mr. Borden died Tuesday night in his home at 35 North Kensington avenue, La Grange. He was 53 years old. Mr. Borden was a son of Seymour Borden, commission merchant. He was a one-time University of Chicago track star, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and a former president of the Chicago poultry board. He leaves three sons, Prentice H., Philip S., and Charles S. Borden; and two daughters, Mrs. Peggy Hengels and Mary Jane Borden.

George R. Welch.

Services for George R. Welch of Villa Park, who died Tuesday in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in Rockford. Mr. Welch worked as an electrical engineer on the Panama canal locks for three years after being graduated from the University of Illinois in 1910, and since then he had been employed by the Western Union company here. He leaves his widow, Margaret; a daughter, and two sons.

Edward P. Luthardt.

Edward P. Luthardt, 71 years old, who was a special agent for the Illinois Bell Telephone company for many years prior to his retirement in 1932, died yesterday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elmer D. Bushnell, 1130 Church street, Evanston. His widow, Mary, and three other daughters also survive. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Graceland cemetery chapel.

Thomas J. Kane.

Thomas J. Kane, a coal dealer for more than 50 years, died yesterday in his home at 315 Sterling road, Kenilworth. He was 67 years old. For the last 18 years he was head of the Kane coal company, 1815 North Ashland avenue. He leaves two sons, William and Thomas; a daughter, Camilla, and five grandchildren.

Charles Copeland.

Charles Copeland, former hotel owner, was found dead last night in a rooming house at 1534 North La Salle street. He formerly owned the Copeland hotel, 5009 Sheridan road. Later, he owned a cafeteria at Dearborn and Division streets. He was 76 years old.

Abraham L. Weinstock.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 25 (AP).—Abraham Lincoln Weinstock, 72, editor and publisher of The Traveling Elk, a magazine of the order of Elks, died today.

ONCE POOR, HE GIVES CLOTHES TO HUNDREDS

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 25 (AP).—Because an Austrian immigrant boy learned 44 years ago what it means to be without friends or food in a city, thousands of poor Dallas residents were the grateful possessors tonight of new, warm clothes which cost them nothing.

Their benefactor was I. Rude, head of clothing stores here and in Los Angeles, Cal. It was his 29th yule party here. Included in today's gifts were 100 dozen women's dresses, 50 dozen girls' dresses, 25 dozen children's dresses, 25 dozen babies' dresses, 45 dozen blankets, 250 dozen trousers and hundreds of shoes.

Mrs. Lucy Pitney Walker.

Services for Mrs. Lucy Pitney Walker, a native of Chicago, who died Tuesday at the age of 92 in her home at 4454 Woodlawn avenue, will be held in the home at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. Mrs. Walker was born on a site which is now Adams street and Wabash avenue and lived at 12th street and Indiana avenue at the time of the Chicago fire. Her father, Franklin B. Pitney, operator of a Chicago tannery 100 years ago, was a charter member of the old Plymouth church, which is now the Kenwood Evangelical church. Pitney court on the south side was named after him. Mrs. Walker leaves two sons and one daughter.

Walter E. Kasten.

Walter E. Kasten, treasurer of the O. S. Jordan company in East Chicago, died yesterday in his home at 220 Carroll street, Hammond. Mr. Kasten, who was 42 years old, was a director of the First National and Union National banks in East Chicago. He leaves his widow, Florence, and two children, Walter James and Florence Jayne. The funeral will be held at 8:30 a. m. Saturday from the chapel at 5840 Hohman avenue, Hammond, to St. Joseph's church in that city.

Mrs. Mary Peterson.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Peterson, 1253 Byron street, who died at home Monday, will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel at 4821 North Damen avenue. Mrs. Peterson, who was a widow, is survived by eight children, including Miss Edith Peterson, assistant cashier in the office of the clerk of the United States District court.

Paul R. Gallagher.

Easton, Md., Dec. 25 (AP).—Paul R. Gallagher, 46, former widely known showboat actor, died today after suffering a heart attack. Gallagher, born in Marshall, Ill., settled in Easton three years ago after retiring. His widow, Mrs. Nina Gallagher, also appeared in showboat companies.

Joachim Lestrohan.

Services for Joachim Lestrohan, French born linguist and tutor, who died Tuesday in Ravenswood hospital, will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Matthias Catholic church. Mr. Lestrohan, who lived at 2119 Ainslie street, was 69 years old. His widow, Ada, survives.

Alvin W. Craver.

Youngstown, O., Dec. 25 (AP).—Postmaster Alvin W. Craver, 68, thrice mayor of Youngstown, died tonight of a heart attack. He was chairman of the Mahoning county Democratic party executive committee for many years. He had been postmaster three years.

Miss Joan Gray's Debut Ball Is the Great Event of Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF ONLY we were quadruplets tonight! We'd like to be at the Auditorium for the opening of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, which is a benefit for the Church Mission of Help; at the Grand Opera house, where Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt are opening in "There Shall Be No Night"; at Orchestra hall for the symphony concert with Zino Francescatti, violinist, as soloist, and at the Stadium to see Sonja Henie's new ice revue, not to mention all of the other theatrical productions in town.

If we were younger, of debutante age, there would be no question where we would want to be between the hours of 8 and midnight, for the Gray-Meeker dinner-dance at the Casino is THE place for the debs and their beaux in the early evening.

Bit of Sentiment in Miss Gray Making Bow Here.

Much sentiment is connected with the debut dinner-dance tonight of Miss Joan Gray, whose home is in San Francisco, but who is making her formal boy to society in the city in which her mother, the former Katherine Meeker, was born, lived as a girl, made her debut, and was married to Dr. Horace Gray of Boston. The Grays spent several winters here when Joan was a child, but California has been their home since 1924. Dr. Gray was unable to leave the west coast at this time, so he is not here to receive tonight with his wife and their charming daughter and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker.

The dinner-dance is to be in the Casino. There will be one large table, seating about 30, of Mrs. Gray's contemporaries, but all the other guests will be youthful. Miss Gray is a student at Sarah Lawrence college.

Blackstone Hotel Mecca of Young Folk Tonight.

Whatever one's age, if he or she be in the crowd whose activities make social news, the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone will be the destination late tonight, for the first big ball of the winter is being given there. It is the debut of Miss Marie-Merrill Hubbard and Miss Mary Jane Deere Wiman, who will rush from the Gray dinner-dance at the Casino promptly at 10 o'clock so they can change into their ball gowns and join their parents, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman, in the foyer adjoining the ballroom shortly before 11 o'clock.

There are only two debut balls this season—Evelyn Gardner's on Saturday is the other—so it is safe to predict that only illness or absence from the city will keep away any one who is invited to tonight's party.

Mrs. Hubbard Discarding Braces for the Evening.

Mrs. Francis P. Sears and her son, Francis Jr., have come from their home in Boston for the ball. Mrs. Sears is Mrs. Hubbard's sister. Mrs. Hubbard, no doubt, will steal a little of the spotlight from debutantes tonight, for she will be making her first public appearance since she was hurt several months ago in the hunting field. In fact, she is out for tonight only, and tomorrow she goes back into braces.

Those who go to the Auditorium tonight will see three ballets: "Poker Game" and "The Nutcracker," which are new to Chicago balletomanes, and "Capriccio Espagnol," in which Leonide Massine will dance. The Theodore W. Robinsons and the junior H. Stuart Stones are among the many who have planned dinner parties to precede the benefit. Mrs. Robinson is president of the board of the CMH and general chairman of the committee that has arranged tonight's affair.

Miss Janet Musselman, Miss Nancy Blaine, Miss Kathleen Kelly, Miss Katherine Baird, Miss Virginia Ballard, Miss Barbara Day, Miss Dorothy Wieboldt, Miss Helen Shoemaker, Miss Margot Webbe, and Miss Nancy Wolcott will distribute programs.

The CMH is an Episcopal social agency which, however, helps girls from 16 to 25, whatever their creed.

Miss Eleanore Zeiss Making Her Bow Today.

The Carl H. Zeisses have asked their daughters' contemporaries as well as family friends to the tea they are giving today to present their second child, Eleanore, to society. The large party from 4 to 7 o'clock is being given in the Dearborn parkway home of the debutante's grandmother, Mrs. Charles S. Williamson. Now a resident of Pasadena, Mrs. Williamson was unable to come east for the festivities.

For her party—the highlight of her Christmas vacation from Vassar college—Miss Zeiss is wearing a champagne colored net gown with a matching bodice brocaded in daisies. A large corps of her sister-debutantes will be present to serve tea. Miss Josephine Zeiss made her debut at a tea-dance at the Fortnightly club three years ago.

A luncheon today at the Arts club, given by her grandmother, Mrs. William B. Albright, and her aunt, Mrs. Norman J. Albright, will continue the debutante festivities for Miss Peggy Boyd. The T. Kenneth Boyds' daughter, at home for the holidays from Wellesley college, made her debut at a tea-dance Tuesday at the Indian Hill club, with Miss Gertrude Scribner sharing the honors.

William O. Kurtzes Giving Dinner for Barbara Burch.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Kurtz are entertaining at dinner tonight at the Palmer House for debutante Barbara Burch. Tomorrow night her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Williams, are giving a dinner for Miss Burch at the Racquet club, later taking their guests to see "DuBarry Was a Lady."

The Misses Barbara Hypes, Nancy Swan, and Joan Hyatt are giving a luncheon for Miss Burch tomorrow

When Miss Jane Mansfield Affleck received at tea yesterday with her parents, the Benjamin Franklin Afflecks, she was wearing a filmy gown of white tulle scrolled in white velvet. The party in the family's Winnetka home was the formal debut of their daughter, who is a sophomore at Northwestern.

Miss Joan Littlefield's gown for her debut yesterday might have been inspired by one of the gay packages which she opened earlier in the day. A gold lace apron was tied over the skirt of her white taffeta gown, which had a magenta velvet bodice. The Arthur Littlefields gave the tea in their Winnetka home.

Columnist's Christmas.

It seemed wrong to have so gay and comfortable a Christmas in a war torn world. Holly on the door, mistletoe hanging in the hall, evergreen swags in the doorways, the Madonna with her halo of lighted candles and kneeling attendant angels in the annual place on the mantel, birch logs on the fire, and ropes of evergreen over the Derain drawing above the fireplace. Red ribbons on a freshly bathed Sandy and Binge, red poinsettia plants [gifts of friends]; American beauty gift roses in the big crystal bowl on the piano.

Friends in for Christmas eve dinner at a table with a silver cloth and a scarlet satin runner, a tree of silver plumes for a centerpiece, and pyramids of pink glass balls for decoration. Turkey and plum pudding [the brandy didn't burn]. Music after dinner, and an evening that ended with the singing of carols; and last of all, Holy Night and with one guest stopping to draw her Christmas card as she said good night.

"Merry Christmas," she wrote, after drawing some Christmas angels on a card, "twenty minutes after it is."

CHRISTMAS CARD—1940.

This is the time of cheer and holly bright and crystal now upon a far flung hill. . . .

Rejoice ye in your quiet candlelight altho beyond the sea men maim and kill;

Yea, lift your eyes to heaven's changeless bar. A cross may wait. . . . Tonight there shines a star.

—Claire Goodell.

Confidante.

A Riverside resident, J. S. Goddard, reports the woman who stepped up to a saleswoman in the table linen section of a loop department store.

"I have just married a widower and he hates to eat off a printed tablecloth," she said. "He much prefers a white one."

"What size would you like?" asked the salesgirl.

"O, I don't want to buy one, answered the woman. "I only want to tell you about it."

Eggnog Recipe.

This is the time of year a good eggnog recipe is in demand. We offer, as a service to readers, a Baltimore Club recipe recommended and used by Prentice Andrews and tried with success by your scribe:

Break and separate one dozen yolks and whites of eggs.

Add level tablespoon of sugar for each yolk, stirring until thoroughly mixed.

Good sized wine glass of bourbon or rye for each yolk—add very slowly, mixing all the time. (If added too rapidly yolks will string.)

Whip whites until hard and add.

One pint of cream for each dozen eggs. [Whole milk is better as all cream makes the mixture too rich.]

Club Open House.

Mrs. George Hanly Nippert, president of the First district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, will hold open house for her board from 2 until 5 o'clock tomorrow at her home, 5913 Winthrop avenue. Mrs. Arthur W. Nelson and Mrs. Thomas Clyne are assisting her with arrangements.

THE STAGE

"There Shall Be No Night," Robert E. Sherwood's drama of the war in Finland, tonight opens an engagement of three and a half weeks at the Grand Opera house. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are starred, and the supporting cast includes Richard Whorf, Sydney Greenstreet, Maurice Colbourne, Elisabeth Fraser, and Montgomery Clift.

Ruth Chatterton in "Pygmalion" will play an extra holiday matinee at the Harris theater this afternoon.

Extra midnight shows on New Year's eve have been scheduled by the two musicals in town—"Du Barry Was a Lady" at the Erlanger theater, and "New Pins and Needles," at the Studebaker.

Good Morning!

KIND: Fantasy in Technicolor. Very elaborate, very expensive, and very long.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SCENIC EFFECTS, MECHANICAL TOYS, COSTUMES, ETC.: Gorgeous, Stunning, Colossal—and Cunning.

ACTING: Conrad Veidt turns in a smooth performance as a magician-lover-usurper. Sabu and the dog into which he is turned are cute as bugs' ears. . . . Otherwise I thought the acting undistinguished.

DIRECTION: Complicated — but often remarkable.

STORY: Young royal lovers, persecuted by a magician who loves the girl, are befriended by "The Thief of Bagdad." . . . Strange, indeed, are the adventures of all before the H. E.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Decidedly depends on the audience. . . . Some will be charmed. Others bored. I was the latter.

"THE LILAC DOMINO."

Michael Bartlett is an Irish tenor. You saw and heard him with Grace Moore in "Love Me Forever." He was in "She Married Her Boss" and "Follow Your Heart." . . . He is shortly to sing with Miss Claire over W-G-N in a production to be announced later. . . . He looks like Chester Morris—with dimples—and HOW he CAN make music!

The reason for the above informative rave is to direct your attention to the fact of Mr. Bartlett's presence in "The Lilac Domino"—because it's really the only reason why anybody should see the picture—a second rate operetta, poorly directed, dialoged, and, for the most part, acted.

Mr. Bartlett is its shining light. He is a natural and charming person with a grand voice. If the picture irked him—and it must have done so—he gives no sign. He just graciously endeavors to cloak mediocrity with his own assurance. In other words, he does the best he can, and when you see what he had to contend with you'll think he deserves a medal.

Don't forget the name—Michael Bartlett. COMING SOON—to W-G-N!

See you tomorrow.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Cheli Scott, Norma Tredwell goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Gerente with orders in code from the naval intelligence. On a hunch Maclain goes to Paul's apartment and finds Cameron with the dead man. Cameron lives in the apartment below Paul's and he confesses to the murder, claiming a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it, but Maclain doubts his story. Norma longs to ask the advice of Bunny Carter, head of the aircraft works where her step-son, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, but does not dare for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. In Gilbert's workroom some one pushes a wardrobe on Norma. Col. Gray, head of the New York defense plans, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with the murder and the bombing sight Gilbert Tredwell has designed. Maclain goes to the Tredwell home with his two seeing-eye dogs, ostensibly to solve Barbara's disappearance. He discovers Gilbert's bombing sight plans have been traced and learns from Norma that she thought Bella, the maid, was hiding behind the wardrobe and it was she who pushed it on Norma. Later Bella is found beheaded. Maclain came upon the odor of violets in Paul's apartment and finds it again about Bella. He concludes that violet perfume is a trademark in the Nazi spy system but thinks Bella was killed because she was working for the intelligence but pretending to work for the Nazis. Maclain questions Bunny Carter and drives him out to the aviation plant where he hears Louis Madoc, a foreman speak and he realizes he is hearing the voice of the fake Paul Gerente who visited him the night of Paul's murder. A perfume ad is mailed Norma from the House of Bonnee, and Maclain pockets it, sure it is a message in code. He finally decodes it and realizes his own life is in danger. He dictates into an Ediphone a message to Spud to investigate the House of Bonnee.

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

MESSAGE TO SPUD.

Maclain reached out in the darkness, found the button to Cappo's telephone and gave it a single ring.

When Cappo answered he said, "Come here, but leave the dog."

Twice more he ran his finger over the stencil. When Cappo knocked at the door Maclain admitted him instantly.

"Listen carefully," he told his chauffeur. "Do you know where they dispose of the trash here at The Crags?"

"Yessah," said Cappo. "It's down in the basement in a bin."

"Have they emptied the wastebaskets today?"

"I don't know, Captain. I can look."

"That won't do any good," said Maclain hurriedly. "I'll have to take a chance."

He handed Cappo the advertising envelope and letter. "I want you to take these downstairs without any one seeing you and throw them away in that bin. As soon as you've done that, I want you to take this dictaphone record to New York in the car and deliver it to Mr. Savage. You can drive it in three hours, can't you?"

"Yessah," said Cappo. "In nearer two."

"Don't get arrested," Maclain cautioned him. "Keep this record beside you on the floor. If any one stops you for any reason at all, smash it instantly."

"Yessah," said Cappo. He paused a moment and added, "Did you want some one to watch, Captain, to see who gets that letter out of the bin?"

"No," said Maclain. "I'll find out soon enough. Whoever gets that letter out of the bin is going to kidnap me."

. . . . . .

Dinner at the Crags was marred by an overwhelming mantle of nervous expectancy. At the head of the long table alight with the flicker of candles against cut glass and silver, Thaddeus Tredwell carved the roast. Each slice was cut with fine precision, laid upon a plate with studied care, and handed to Pierce to be served. Gil, Helena, Cheli Scott, and Stacy mutely watched. Sitting quietly at the right of his host, Duncan Maclain listened to the butler's self-effacing steps passing behind his chair. It seemed as thg the entire drama of murder and disappearance had distilled itself into one torturing hour, filling those at the table to satiety.

Maclain felt the urgent need of introducing conversation to break the terrible spell. "I'd like to drive into Hartford after dinner to register a letter, Mr. Tredwell. Would it inconvenience you if Dominick drove me in your car?"

"Certainly not."

The Captain sensed the instant relief engendered in those present by his simple question. Down the table, Helena giggled at nothing. It sounded slightly out of place, like the laugh of an overwrought woman at a deathbed scene in a picture show.

Cheli Scott said quickly, "I'll take you, Captain, if you don't mind women drivers. I'm going in anyway."

"Dominick can take you both." Thaddeus put down the carving set and hitched his chair closer to the table.

"I wouldn't be so impolite." The captain smiled. "To assure you of my faith in women in all professions, Miss Scott, I'll be glad to have you take me in your car."

"You have more nerve than I have," Thaddeus told him. "Automobiles scare me to death, even when they're driven by a chauffeur."

"Cappo's one of the best drivers I know," Maclaim remarked, "but that hasn't saved me from having trouble with my car. He had to take it to town to have some work done late today."

Pierce put a plate down in front of him and said, "I took the liberty, Captain, of cutting your meat for you."

"You're very kind." The captain picked up his fork and added, "I wish you'd take any message for me if Cappo happens to call."

"Certainly, sir." Pierce moved away.

Stacy asked without warning, "Which dog are you going to take in town?"

For the space of a breath the dining room was still. Then Helena spoke up with, "What do you mean? I didn't know the captain had two."

"Dominick says there's another one out in the garage," the boy told her importantly. "Isn't that so, Captain Maclain?"

The captain moistened his lips with a sip of water wiped them carefully, with his napkin and said, "Yes, that's true, but Schnuke always goes with me. The other dog, Dreist, is somewhat in the nature of a spare. He's not much good to guide me around, but he's dangerous as a loaded gun."

"Dangerous!" exclaimed the boy. "He looks just like Schnuke to me, and she'd never bite any one."

"Dreist's trained for police work," the captain told him. "He can jump, run, and trail; and without any command on my part he'll tear any one to pieces the instant he sees me threatened with a gun. For that matter, I don't need to be threatened. He attacks at the sight of a gun in any one's hand."

"How about other weapons?" Stacy asked.

The captain smiled. He'll attack anybody who hasn't a weapon if I give him the command. He jumps up sideways behind their legs and knocks them over if they try to run. Football players call it clipping."

"Gosh!" said Stacy admiringly. "I'd like to have a dog like that for my own."

"I'm afraid you wouldn't have many friends left," said Duncan Maclain.

Immediately after dinner, he went upstairs to his room. There he took an almost flat automatic in a shoulder holster rig from his Gladstone bag and started to put it on. With his arm thru a loop he changed his mind, took the gun off, and put it in a bureau drawer.

As he left the bedroom, Thaddeus stopped him in the hall. "If I don't hear something about my daughter by tomorrow, Captain, I'm going to officially report her kidnaping to the police and the F. B. I."

"If I don't know where she is by tomorrow, I advise you to do so," the Captain told him, speaking very softly, "but whether you know it or not, you're already in touch with the F. B. I."

. . . . . .

Cappo pushed the 12 cylinder car to the limit of safety on the trip to New York, utilizing every trick of a splendid driver's skill. Once he thought that a sedan with New Hampshire plates was clinging too close to him on the Merritt Parkway. Losing inquisitive sedans was a joyous game to Cappo. He flashed right on an exit to New Canaan, twisted around two more turns at nauseating speed, and stopped on a bridge above the highway.

Cappo's dark face was wrinkled with lines of amusement as he watched the New Hampshire car pass below him, hesitate, and finally take the New Canaan turn. The car streaked off the bridge, made two more turns and was doing better than 80 when it rolled back onto the parkway. Cappo ran five miles passing everything until a glimpse of a state police car slowed him down to a legal 50. At 7:30, two hours and 45 minutes from Hartford, he placed Maclain's recorded message safely in Spud's hands.

It was characteristic of Duncan Maclain's partner, Spud Savage, to think that an hour's delay in carrying out the captain's suggestions was an hour's wasted time. He took the wax cylinder into the captain's office, put it on the transmitter, and flicked the switch connecting the radio with the dictaphone.

Maclain's short, clear cut message filled the room.

There was a battling light, almost feline, in Spud's unusual yellow eyes when he called Cappo in from the hall.

When the 'captain gave you this, Cappo, did he say why he didn't telephone?"

"Nossah, Mr. Savage. He's acting mighty careful like." Cappo related what had happened at the Crags. His eyes widened to show the whites in a frightened expanse as he told of the murdered girl.

Universal Day—This day will be like the lull after a storm. Keep it quiet. Rest.

January—Those entering a seven-year soon should find January rather stimulating and active. The year as a whole may bring much nerve strain and a sense of defeat if you start it on too high a note, so keep the impulses to expand down during January if you can. A little organization wouldn't hurt so that things will move forward smoothly. You might have the opportunity to travel or to widen your social contacts. Don't expect too much from this fleeting speedup, however, because you will be disappointed if you anticipate too much. There definitely will be a feeling of letdown later. Don't spend too much.

A California Institute of Technology professor has done a job which has long needed doing. He has written a book on vitamins for the layman. Books on vitamins usually are so highly technical as to be a formidable task for one unlettered in chemistry. This book is a popularized treatment of a very important subject and makes interesting as well as informative reading for the family.

"Vitamins, What They Are and How They Can Benefit You" is the whole title. Author is Henry Borsook, professor of biochemistry at the California school.

Vitamin research is a new, constantly developing science and this book presents the latest facts about all of the known vitamins.

Some of the topics discussed are vitamins in relation to dental health, diets for children and adults, vitamins as sold in capsule form, and sources of the various vitamins. Of course, the importance of each vitamin in maintaining bodily health is thoroly discussed.

The book is published by the Viking Press and should be obtainable at most bookstores. The price is $2.

There's a decorative and efficient new kind of cake and fruit knife which looks like glass, but is flexible, lightweight, and pastel tinted. It has sharp sawtooth edges and does a neat job of cutting and slicing.

The common garden variety of catsup bottle which has to be shaken hard over the hamburger seems to be on its way out. Since we reported the round glass jars now used by one packer, attractive enough to grace a buffet table, we've discovered another modified bottle. This one is a squatty, short-necked jar, an improvement over the long-necked kind, especially for home use. Both catsup and chili sauce are packed in these new ways. The emptied jars are nice for spices or tea.

Harvard Man Discovers Yale Men Can Sing

BY CECIL SMITH.

As a onetime Harvard man, I have always supposed that the Yale Glee club must be beneath contempt. Last night I managed to sneak thru the door of Orchestra hall without being caught and thrown out as an alien spy. And what, to my consternation and edification, did I discover?

Why, I discovered that the Yale Glee club sings better than the Harvard Glee club [Cambridge, Mass., papers please copy]. The voices of the 50 singers are strong and vibrant, thoroly ingratiating in tone, and beautifully balanced and blended. There is none of that darkly covered tone which robs the Harvard singers of too much force and directness. The Yale men sing courageously and with exciting vigor when they are singing forté, yet they can diminish their tone to a pianissimo which always remains resonant and interesting.

It is in the matter of repertory that the Harvard Glee club continues to have the edge. By limiting his choice of music for the Yale Glee club almost wholly to folk songs and college songs, Marshall Bartholomew, the director, circumscribes the range of his artistic outlook unnecessarily. And no matter how attractive the individual pieces may be, a whole evening of songs consisting of two or more repeated stanzas gets exceedingly boresome.

The fact cannot be escaped that last night's program did not mirror the mature and inclusive kind of adult interest in serious things that makes Yale the great university it is.

Yale Concert Audience Like Home-Coming

You would have thought that a college reunion was taking place in Orchestra hall last night when the Yale Glee club gave its first Chicago concert since 1936. The hall was filled with an audience as ready to "do or die for that old college try" as if they had been attending a home coming football game. Even the few Harvard men who dared to appear had to admit that the Yale boys were "pretty smooth."

The sons of old Eli spent all day hopping from one debut party to another and they had the prospects of Miss Eleanor Norris' debut dance at the Racquet club to look forward to after the concert.

Sprinkle a few silver-threaded heads thru a bevy of shining copper and blonde long-bobs and you have a last-row balcony view of the audience. Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, swished in early in a dramatic full-length cape of purple lined with fuchsia.

Mrs. Winterbotham's son, John Jr., is one of the four Chicago boys in the glee club. John M. Butler Jr., Ray Gardner, and E. Gardner Counselman are the other three.

Miss Jane Affleck swirled down the aisle with a group of young people who had been attending her debut tea. Among them were Miss Muriel MacChesney in blue lamé and blue net; Miss Patty Chancellor in a tiered rose taffeta gown topped with a black wool wrap and corsage of white carnations; Miss Lydia Elliott, Miss Barbara Warner, Miss Lois Greeley, and Miss Anne Strong.

Miss Marie Merrill Hubbard in an eye catching white tulle gown trimmed with ermine tails chatted in the "outer lobby" during the intermission. Miss Mary Ann Wyman, in deep rose velvet and faille, came in with Miss Eleanor Norris and a group of young people who had been guests at the dinner which the Perry H. Kenlys gave for the two debs before the concert.

Upstairs Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Knight, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Harris shared a box. Edwin Winter played host to Subdebs Anne Carpenter, Bessie Coles, Shirley Hopkins, and their escorts, Richard Stevenson Jr., Edward Spaulding, and Douglas Blossom.

Miss Carpenter wore a silver satin gown, Miss Coles, bouffant white net, and Miss Hopkins, an ermine jacket and white chiffon frock. Miss Anne Stuart in deep purple velvet and tafetta was one of the post-debs in the audience.

Arthur Meeker entertained his daughter, Mrs. Horace Gray, in deep green velvet, Mrs. Donald Ryerson, and Miss Elspeth McClure, Mrs. Ryerson's niece.

The Housewife

For informal buffet suppers a new idea is to serve fried chicken in a huge, handmade wooden scoop. This scoop is on short legs that lift it from the surface of the table. It's of a pleasing, dark brown wood and it has that artistic look of all handmade objects. Not a bit expensive, either, and fashioned by craftsmen in the hills of New York state. This item is part of a line of fascinating, all-American home furnishings, just introduced to Chicago.

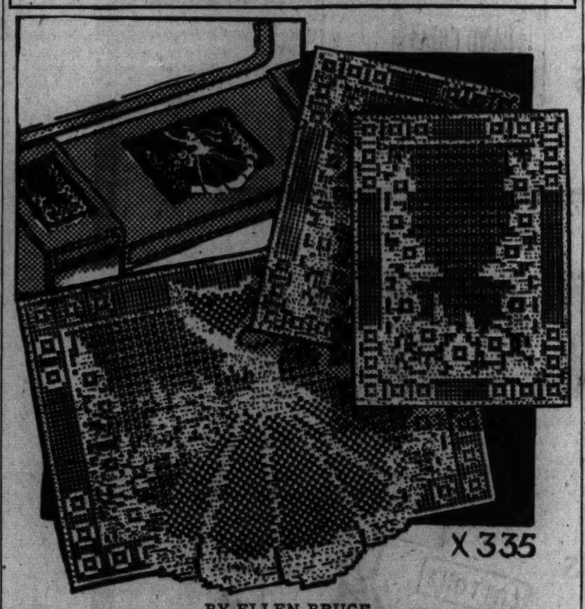
Sunbonnet Girl Filet Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Make yourself this clever "sunbonnet girl" filet vanity set and you will have an addition to your bedroom ensemble which will be admired by every one. The crochet worker looking for something dainty to make will enjoy this quaint and clever design.

For instructions in crocheting this filet vanity set, No. X-335, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Lake Forest Academy Gives Party for Boys

One hundred boys from the Chicago Association house and Erie Chapel districts spent Christmas day at the Lake Forest academy, where they were entertained at dinner and games. Santa Claus presented each boy with a pair of gloves, a cap, and other articles of clothing. Among those who were hosts at the party were Howard Meincke Jr., William O. Hess, Fred McCahey, Frank D. McManus, Robert D. Robertson, and Herbert S. McAllister.

St. Mary of Woods Dance.

The St. Mary of the Woods College Chicago club will give a holiday dance in the Continental room of the Stevens hotel tonight. Miss Marguerite Carroll, daughter of John A. Carroll of South Shore drive, is president of the club.

Miss Joan Gray is Making Her Debut Tonight

at the Skokie club. Miss Margaret Atkinson of Minneapolis and Miss Margaret Brown of Rhinelander, Wis., are coming to visit Miss Burch for her debut tea on Monday at the Indian Hill Country club. That night her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burch, will give a late dinner-dance at Camellia House for their daughter, her assistants, and their escorts.

There's Romance at the Charles Austins' Home.

Romance twines through the celebrations at the Edwin Charles Austin home in Glencoe. Miss Patricia arrived last Thursday from Vassar and on Saturday she was joined by her fiancé, Renslow Drew Sherer, who is attending Yale. Today Robert Lake Foote of Charlottesville, Va., the fiancé of the oldest Austin daughter, Barbara, arrives, and Miss Jean Verity of Cincinnati, who will be a bridesmaid with Miss Barbara at Miss Nancy Landis' wedding on Saturday, will also join them.

This evening the Austins are planning a winter sports party at the Skokie club for Miss Landis and her fiancé, Burton Cedric Smith. If there's no cooperation from the snow department of the weather bureau, the young people will go roller skating instead.

Since trunk-packing and shopping sprees before school started kept Miss Patricia and her fiancé so busy last September, they had no time for an engagement party.

On Sunday they're going to make up for it with a tea, which Mr. and Mrs. Austin are giving for them at their home.

Woman's Athletic Club Giving Dance for Teen Agers.

The teen age group will dance at a tea-dance which the Woman's Athletic club is giving for them this afternoon from 4 o'clock to 7 o'clock. Mrs. Rawleigh Warner and Mrs. Averill Tilden will be hostesses at the dance.

Tonight the sub-deb crowd of Winnetka will be entertained by Miss Ann Harvey and Miss Kathryn Lyon at a dinner-dance at the Indian Hill club. Miss Ann is the daughter of William S. Harvey Jr. of Glencoe, and Miss Kathryn is the daughter of the William Howard Lyons of Winnetka. Both girls are juniors at Dobbs Ferry.

While their big sisters and brothers are busy with debut festivities, members of Lake Forest's young set will dance tonight at the Lake Forest Junior assembly at the Onwentsia club. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m. Assisting with final plans for the gay evening are Mrs. Samuel J. Walker, Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Mrs. Keith Carpenter, Mrs. Kant Chandler, Mrs. Thomas Connors, Mrs. Phelps Kelley, Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III., Mrs. William A. P. Pullman, Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. Edward D. Shumway, Mrs. T. Philip Swift, Mrs. Hempstead Washburne, and Mrs. Edward K. Welles.

Young Albert B. Dicks Going East for Wedding.

The young Albert B. Dicks will go east today so Mrs. Dick can be a bridesmaid at the marriage of Miss Mary Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins of Wynnewood, Pa., to Nicholas Biddle Jr. on Saturday. Next Tuesday night Mrs. Dick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard York Jr. of Ithan, Pa., and New York, will give a dinner for their daughter and her husband before the First Troop Philadelphia City cavalry ball to be held at the Bellevue Stratford hotel.

Plans for the second annual Globe Trotter's ball to be given on Feb. 1 at the Casino club will be whipped into final shape today when the woman's board of the Travelers Aid society meets at its new quarters at 906 North Michigan avenue. The board is determined to keep its new office spic and span and has appointed a Keep the Office Clean committee in charge of broom and dustcloth.

On Jan. 6 the board will give a tea to celebrate the opening of the benefit ticket office. Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr. is in charge of arrangements for the tea.

An Easy-to-Wear Jumper

WOMAN'S AND MISS' JUMPER OUTFIT.

When a jumper buttons down the side it's not only as comfortable to wear as all jumpers, but has the added advantage of helping the wearer to don it without mussing her coiffure. This model has square neckline, slim bodice, slender waistline, and gracefully gored skirt. There's a flap pocket if one wishes. The blouse is typically shirtwaist, with two styles of neckline and sleeves.

Style No. 2826 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material for jumper; 1⅝ yards for short-sleeved blouse; 2 yards for long-sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

As a rule, the greatest service the defenders can render their own cause is to cut the communication between declarer's own hand and dummy. There are a great many different maneuvers by which this isolation process may be put thru. One of the most effective means is illustrated in the following deal:

Today's Hand

Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

The final contract was by no means ideal. However, due to lack of imaginative defense, it was brought home.

West opened the diamond king, driving out dummy's blank ace. Things must have looked pretty black to the declarer as he surveyed his two losing spades and the very unpropitious club situation. Whatever he felt about the matter, however, was not reflected in his play, which gave the enemy a chance to make a mistake.

A low spade was immediately led from dummy, and when East ducked the queen forced West's ace. Now came the fatal error. West jumped to the conclusion that the spade suit was now solid, that declarer had the K-x left, and that the only chance to save the ship was to collect a few club tricks immediately. On that illogical assumption, he shifted to the club queen. Declarer won and laid down the ace and king of hearts, then led his last spade to the ten spot. East, on winning with the king, could do no more than cash the club king. Thus the defenders were confined to two spade tricks and one club, and the optimistic contract was fulfilled.

West's diagnosis of the situation, when he got on lead with the spade ace, was very bad. Declarer had bid one, two, and four hearts. Surely it was unlikely that he could have made all those bids if he had held nothing but a good heart suit and the king, queen, and another spade. For West's plan to work out, declarer would have to hold three worthless clubs, a very remote possibility. The more logical view was that declarer had at least one top club and was attempting to establish dummy's spade suit for discarding purposes. If declarer had the spade king, successful defense probably was out of the question. The one hope was that East had that valuable card and that declarer had started with only two spades.

In this hope West should have directed his efforts toward isolating dummy's spade suit, that is, killing the only potential entry before it could be of value. That entry was in the trump suit itself. It was possible, of course, but not likely, that South, as well as North, had started with the singleton diamond. This would have to be risked. West, on winning with the spade ace, should have led another diamond, forcing dummy to ruff and thereby shortening its trumps so that the ten spot could not become an entry after the spade suit was established.

Had West made this not-too-difficult play, declarer would not have had the faintest chance to avoid the loss of two club tricks, as well as two spades.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 25.—On this Christmas day movie stars can be happy contemplating one fact: Fabulous salaries are going to become fabulouser, and 1941 will indeed be prosperous for the free lance player who flits from picture to picture without the handicap of long-term deals.

There's a shortage of leading players, and when there's a shortage in anything prices go up. A fairly good leading man whose 1940 wage was $60,000 per picture will get $100,000 next year and a really good one will get much more.

It is likely, for instance, that Pat O'Brien, who quit the Warner contract roster, will be able to earn as much in two or three pictures as he did all year at the Burbank studio. It's in the cards that Carole Lombard will hike her price, which has been at the modest rate of $25,000 per picture—plus 10 per cent of the gross. This is a cinch $125,000.

Hardest hit, and the ones that will have to pay the fanciest prices, are the studios which chopped down their contract lists. A bank-dictated economy move may boomerang, with the starless studios bidding desperately in an open and lively market.

John Wayne returns to his home studio, Republic, for "Citadel of Crime." He has been on the borrowed list for eight months, working most notably in "Long Voyage Home" and "Seven Sinners."

MIAMI HIGH ELEVEN DEFEATS FENGER, 19 TO 0

ARMY HIRES BLAIK, HIS DARTMOUTH FOOTBALL STAFF

ALTERS 40 YEAR POLICY TO SIGN CIVILIAN COACH

Releases Granted by Big Green.

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 25 [Special].—Earl [Red] Blaik, Dartmouth coach since 1934, will succeed Capt. William H. Wood as Army's head football coach. This was announced today by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, superintendent of the United States Military academy. With Blaik from Dartmouth will come four assistant coaches and a trainer.

Harry Ellinger, line coach under Blaik for seven years, moves on to West Point with his chief.

Andy Gustafson, former Pitt full back and Blaik's back field coach at Dartmouth since 1934, will have the same position with the cadet team. The end coach will be Frank Moore, who played under Biff Jones at Louisiana State university. While coaching at Oklahoma university Moore developed three outstanding ends.

Date of Change Indefinite.

Ellinger's assistant will be Averill Daniell, another former Pitt star. Daniell played tackle for one year with the Green Bay Packers. Ellinger is a former Army line coach. Roland Bevan, the trainer, is the other Dartmouth man to switch to West Point.

The date when Blaik will take over his new duties is not definite, but he and his staff will be ready for spring practice at West Point.

Blaik was graduated from the military academy in 1920 as a second lieutenant and served two years before resigning. He returned to West Point in 1927 as assistant back field coach and remained there thru the 1933 season under three head coaches.

Ellinger Star Player.

Ellinger appeared at West Point in 1921 as a Plebe appointee from the Pennsylvania National Guard. He played football at guard alongside Ed Garbisch, Army's All-American center.

Ellinger was not commissioned upon graduation because of physical disability. He turned to football coaching immediately and was brought back to West Point in 1928, remaining until the close of the 1933 season, when he went to Dartmouth with Blaik.

The signing of Blaik marks the first time in 40 years that a civilian has been engaged as Army coach. Shortage of available officers at this time was one of the reasons prompting the change in West Point athletic policy. Army officials, however, believe that the switch to a civilian system with Blaik, a former West Pointer at the helm, will not be so sharp.

Capt. Wood, after three years as Army's coach, was recently assigned to cavalry duty at Fort Bliss, Tex.

RELEASE GRANTED

Hanover, N. H., Dec. 25 (AP).—William H. McCarter, director of athletics at Dartmouth, announced tonight that Earl [Red] Blaik, head football coach, had been given his release to permit him to accept appointment as head coach at West Point. Blaik's contract had one more year to run.

McCarter expressed regret at Blaik's departure, while the coach said his move was impelled by duty. McCarter added that Dartmouth had made no plans for replacing its lost staff.

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks opened a three game National Hockey league road trip tonight by battling the World Champion New York Rangers to a 3 to 3 tie before 10,264 in Madison Square Garden.

The Hawks, who had previously beaten the Rangers, 4 to 1 and 3 to 1, in Chicago this season, dropped to fourth place in the league standings as a result of the deadlock, the Boston Bruins moving into third place by trouncing the New York Americans in Boston.

Kelly Scores Twice.

The Hawks had to get out from behind a 2 to 0 deficit, and then surged ahead, 3 to 2, in the third period, but Bryan Hextall scored his second goal for the Rangers about five minutes before the regulation time expired. Both teams attacked heavily in the overtime period, but each defense was equal to the occasion and neither was able to score.

Regis [Pep] Kelly was the Hawks' scoring star, matching Hextall's two goals. Both of them came in the third period when Kelly performed brilliantly on a forward line with Phil Hergesheimer and George Allen. His first goal was a wicked backhander that shot past Goalie Davie Kerr in 4:50, while the second came when he flipped in a loose puck in 10:23 after the Ranger defense had cleared badly. The other Hawk goal was scored by Bill Carse in the second period when the New Yorkers were leading, 2 to 0.

Patrick Scores on Solo.

Lynn Patrick, now established on the Ranger line with the Colville brothers, opened the scoring in the first period with a solo dash in 4:03. Hextall counted his first goal in 1:23 of the second period to give the Rangers their 2 to 0 lead, but Carse's goal at 9:53 cut that down before the period ended. Kelly then swung into action with his two third period goals.

Capt. Art Coulter returned to the Ranger lineup tonight for the first time in five weeks, during which he had been benched by a broken shoulder.

The Blackhawks left after the game for Montreal where they tackle the Canadiens tomorrow night. They meet the Red Wings in Detroit Sunday night and return to their own ice New Year's night to play the Detroit team again.

Mississippi State College 11 Off for Orange Bowl

State College, Miss., Dec. 25 (AP).—Mississippi State college's football team left today for Miami, Fla., and the Orange Bowl encounter with Georgetown.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THIS is the time of year when sports writers are supposed to review major athletic developments of the last 12 months. . . . We're going to deviate slightly from custom and recall experiences, most of them personal in which you may have no interest. . . . Some are pleasant, others tragic, but all are memories nobody can take from us. . . . No one who saw the 1940 Sugar Bowl football game soon will forget the brilliant performance of the Texas Aggies' John Kimbrough, whose plunging wrecked a previously unbeaten Tulane eleven. . . . Time never can erase the spectacle at Lafayette, Ind., when a soundly whipped Wisconsin team came thru in the last second to tie and subsequently defeat Purdue. . . . Long shall we remember the 1940 International Golden Gloves and the lump that comes in one's throat when he sees the Stars and Stripes hoisted to the rafters of Chicago Stadium amid the flags of European nations. . . . We wonder how long it will be before young men from America again will fight young men from Europe according to the rules of a game in friendship and peace. . . . Our gayest moment of 1940: midnight in New Orleans where Canal street was so jammed with merrymakers pedestrians had to shout in one another's ears to make themselves heard. . . . Three weeks later came the saddest moment of our life as we stood at the deathbed of our lovely 17 year old daughter whose passing bewildered some of the greatest minds in medicine. . . . Our leading achievement: getting Will Harridge, president of the American league, to start from the No. 1 tee on the Sebring, Fla., golf course. . . . He had agreed to determine once and for all whether he or your conductor was the world's worst golfer provided we would begin the round on the second tee free from the gaze of spectators. . . . After nine holes of competition the decision still is in doubt. . . .

Other recollections which for us always will be associated with 1940: The return of the tomato to major league baseball, notably in Detroit and Cleveland at the finish of the American league race. . . . Tom Harmon's success in establishing himself as one of Michigan's gridiron immortals. . . . The lawn party by Donald Barnes, president of the St. Louis Browns at his estate in the foothills of the Ozarks the night before the All-Star baseball game. . . . Sam Snead's 67 in the first round of the National Open golf tournament and his finishing round of 81. . . . The continued popularity of night baseball in the majors. . . . Mint juleps at the Kentucky Derby. . . . Dinner with George Ade and David Ross at the home of President E. C. Elliott of Purdue university. . . . The honorary degree of doctor of laws conferred upon us by Loras college. . . . Sun bathing alongside the swimming pool at Don Ameche's luxurious home in Encino, Cal. . . . Oysters Rockefeller at Antoine's in New Orleans. . . . The offer of $250,000 to serve as president of the National Football league for ten years. . . . The peace and quiet of an evening at Barborka ranch, 7,500 feet high in the Colorado Rockies. . . . Ambrose Schindler's brilliant play for the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' field. . . . Pat O'Brien's enthusiasm for the title rôle in "Knute Rockne-All American." . . . The gayety at Miami Beach in midwinter. . . . Joe Louis' conduct, inside and outside the ring. . . .

Sports' greatest loss of the year: The death of Noble E. Kizer. . . . Best comeback of the golf season: Lawson Little's victory in the National Open playoff after five discouraging years as a professional, in none of which had he shown the golf that made him the headliner of the world's amateurs for 1934 and 1935. . . . And a bow to the man he beat in the playoff, 38 year old Gene Sarazen, winner of the Opens of 1922 and 1932. . . . Finest coaching job of the year: Clark Shaughnessy's success at Stanford. . . . Our greatest thrill? The joy on our son's face the day he came home from school and exclaimed, "Guess what, Dad! I passed in geometry!"

You Are So Young.

Ah, child you are so young, so very young,
That love alone has lent you his caress,
You have not heard life's plaintive measures sung,
Nor drunk the bitter milk of sorrow's breast;
But one day you must feel the lash of pain
And look into the hardened eyes of hate,
And learn how often friendships prove in vain
Even when most they seem to satiate.
Would I could shield you from the future days
And lead you up the hillside mile by mile,
Knowing that roses bloom on thorny ways
And that each tear is hidden 'neath a smile;
But you must climb the rugged steep alone
And learn to love affliction as your own.

BRUINS DEFEAT HAMMOND, 50-46; KAUTZ IS STAR

Wibs' 21 Points Tie Year's Scoring Mark.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[PICTURE ON NEXT PAGE.]

The Chicago Bruins, led by hard working Wibs Kautz, last night presented themselves with a Yule gift by scoring their third victory in four National Basketball league games, a 50 to 46 decision over the Hammond Clesars on the 132d Regiment armory floor. The triumph further served to average Hammond's defeat of the Bruins last Sunday.

Kautz tied the individual scoring record for the league this season by collecting nine field goals and three free throws, equaling the mark set by Ben Stephens of the Akron Goodyears. Ralph Vaughn, who rolled up 19 points last Sunday, was held to two baskets and five free throws.

Bruins Take Early Lead.

Thirty-six fouls, rather unseemly for a holiday game, were called during the night. The Bruins did right nicely in the first quarter, coming out of it with an 11 to 6 advantage. Adams and Kautz were the chief factors in this progress, Adams doing a noble job of restraining Vaughn.

The second period found the Chicagoans going into a 19 to 11 lead which appeared to be quite safe until Dar Hutchins, Bob Neu, Clem Ruh, and Tim Goff chopped the margin down to 23 to 21. Coach Frank Linskey entered the game at this time and led the drive that gave Chicago a 27 to 21 intermission edge.

Until Linskey's entrance, the Hammond lads seemed likely to catch up, but the Bruin coach and Kautz kept firing away until they had built up their half time lead. The contest verged on the rugged side thru most of the first half, bringing a deal of free throwing into play.

Play Becomes Rugged.

If the first half developed a strenuous complexion, the second proved to be twice as interesting, especially in the boys' utter failure to respect that Christmas line about peace on earth, etc.

The kids sprawled, dove and drove all over the armory wood work for the entire last two quarters with a mutually unsparing enthusiasm.

The Bruins built up a 40 to 32 margin thru the third period. Kautz leading the attack, and despite Hammond's vigorous efforts in the final quarter, outlasted the Hoosiers to the finish. Lineup:

Pacific Coast All-Stars Beat Columbus Bullies

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 25 (AP).—The Pacific Coast All-Stars defeated the Columbus [O.] Bulls, American league professional football champions, 6 to 3, today in a charity football game. Both teams scored in the first quarter. Mickey Colmer, former U. C. L. A. star, set up the winning touchdown with a seventy-two yard return of the kickoff following the Bulls' field goal. A twenty-two yard forward pass from Howard to Matthewson put the ball across the goal line. Bill Peterson kicked the Ohio team's field goal from the 22 yard line.

Ice Queen Returns to Stadium

Sonja Henie and Ice Revue Open Tonight

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Sonja Henie starts a 10 day engagement in Chicago Stadium tonight and that's about all that skate fans hereabouts want to know. Sonja and Santa Claus. Both come here at this season every year, and so far as we can calculate one is as welcome as the other. Maybe Sonja is even welcomer than Santa on account of being so much more beautiful and graceful.

Anyhow, Miss Henie and her 1941 edition of the "Hollywood Ice Revue" will be on display tonight for the first performance in a series which will continue thru Jan. 5, excepting New Year's night. It will be the longest professional visit the little star has paid Chicago.

Those who have seen the current ice extravaganza say it is the most brilliant as well as most varied of all the scintillating vehicles that have been produced by Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago, president of Miss Henie's creative staff, a tremendous staff, by the way, recruited from the best production talent and technical skill in Chicago, Hollywood and New York.

He Has to Be Shown.

We don't always believe what press agents say, but we are almost convinced by the adjectives we have been hearing from Sonja's camp. Several years ago they tired telling us Sonja and her supporting cast were the best in the world. Now they confine their emphasis to the thought that the 1941 Sonja and the 1941 show are even better than the Sonja and the cast of other years. We'll know more about this at 11 o'clock tonight and promise to tip you off in detail in tomorrow's paper.

Sonja's supporting array of artists includes, besides the principals, a company of 60 performers billed as "ice ballet dancers." Miss Henie appears in seven different numbers. Her first appearance is with Harrison Thomson in something called "The Legend of the Pearl." George Stewart leads the ensemble in this one.

Red Riding Hood Number.

"Little Red Riding Hood" gives the star her next opportunity to display her artistry. Miss Henie is Little Red Riding Hood, of course; the Cat is Mr. Thomson, the Wolf Fritz Dietl, the Woodchoppers Tommy Lee and Charles Siagle. The Trees are acted by members of the ballet.

The first act finale is "Bolero," in which Miss Henie appears with the entire cast.

Sonja appears in the second number in the second act, which is titled "Invitation to the Dance." Her next is "Intermezzo," in which she skates alone, then there's a tango, with Eugene Mikeler.

Sonja Henie, ice skating star, returns to the Stadium tonight with her Hollywood Ice Revue for a stay that will extend thru Jan. 5. She is shown in three difficult skating maneuvers which she makes look so easy.

Eleven Numbers on Bill.

The grand finale is "Under the Big Top," in which Miss Henie takes the part of the queen of the circus.

There are 11 numbers in all. The titles of some give some idea of what the novelties are about. For instance, there is the Bouncing Ball of the Ice, an acrobatic specialty by Freddy Trenkler. "Up High" sees Mr. Dietl doing his stuff on skate stilts, "Zig and Zag" is a comedy skit by Lee and Siagle and "Rhumboogie" is by the boys and girls of the ensemble.

Irving Gregg and Jimmy Sisk have fun in "The Huntsmen," as do Trenkler and Dietl as Topsy and Simon Legree in "Down South."

Miami, Fla., Dec. 25 [Special].—Miami High school's mighty little fellows whipped the Fenger High football team, Chicago city champion, 19 to 0, tonight to end the Chicagoans' string of games without defeat at 37. The game was played before 11,098, and the result gave Miami High the good will trophy put up by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago.

Fenger threatened twice, once in the second period, and again in the third, but the outweighed Miami eleven repelled both drives. The combination of Miami's alert defense and warm air finally wore down the Chicagoans.

Harvey Comfort, Miami's 157 pound all southern quarter back, personally led touchdown forays in the second and fourth periods, while Miami's reserves went twenty-seven yards for the final score.

Passes for Score.

Comfort passed ten yards to Tommy Fancher for the first touchdown in the closing minutes of the first half to climax a fifty-five yard drive. Miami went eighty yards for its next score with Billy Rentz recovering a fumble in the end zone after Comfort had dropped the ball on the 2 yard line. Arnold Tucker, sophomore back, went a yard off left tackle for the final touchdown.

Fenger, with Harry Stevenson running wild, piled up plenty of yardage in the first half, but a fast charging Miami line stopped everything when its goal was threatened. Ray Florek was unable to make any headway on his spinner plays as Gilbert Wilson crashed thru to drop him.

Miami dominated the play thru the first part of the opening period, two pretty runs by Comfort for seventeen yards and thirteen yards, pacing an offensive that made three first downs and penetrated to Fenger's 25 yard line.

Fenger Puts on Drive.

The Titans took over on the 25 and made Miami rooters uneasy with a drive that carried all the way to the Miami 4. Stevenson got away twice for fifteen and sixteen yards on well executed off tackle plays, and Bruno Pocius sprinted once for sixteen yards on a naked reverse. After reaching Miami's 23 yard line Stevenson broke thru center for eight and John Kredens picked up six for a first down on the Miami 9. Miami helped the Chicagoans by being offside once, but smeared Florek twice and Stevenson twice to take the ball.

Bruce Smith dropped back into the end zone, faked a kick and handed the ball to Comfort who went to his left, cut back and sprinted sixty-three yards before the Titans dragged him down. Bolick's fumble stopped Miami's threat, but Miami came back near the end of the period to score. Comfort got away again to Fenger's 10 and then threw a running pass to Fancher in the end zone for a touchdown. Comfort's try for the extra point was good.

Fenger Is Halted.

Midway in the third period Fenger advanced to Miami's 5 yard line, after Ed Vanderploeg blocked Smith's quick kick on the Miami 29 yard line. Stevenson passed to Kredens for eighteen yards and completed another for six, but once again the home team, outweighed 20 pounds to the man, held. Then Stevenson passed again and Smith intercepted in the end zone.

Taking over on its 20 yard line, Miami went from there to the goal. Comfort and Smith did all the gaining until they reached the 2 yard line, where Comfort fumbled and Rentz recovered over the goal line.

Stevenson, attempting a reverse, fumbled on the next kickoff, and Oakley recovered on Fenger's 27 yard line. Miami's reserves, led by Tucker, carried it over on seven plays.

Miami piled up 16 first downs to Fenger's 10 and gained 292 yards to 145 for the Chicagoans. Comfort gained 162 yards in 14 tries. Stevenson was best for the losers with 64, but Florek could pick up only 18 on 11 plays, so tough was the Miami line play.

STANFORD OPENS FINAL DRILLS AT PASADENA TODAY

Squad to See Bears Face All-Stars Sunday.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—The first Stanford university Rose bowl football team since 1936 will roll into Pasadena tomorrow to begin a week of final preparations for its clash New Year's day with Nebraska.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy's aids said the undefeated Indians from Palo Alto will gather here after a brief respite from training for Christmas, and that hard work—plenty of it—would be the order from now until the big game.

Both to See Pro Game.

Maj. Lawrence [Biff] Jones plans to bring his Huskers to Pasadena Sunday. He made reservations for the entire team to see the pro-bowl football game in Los Angeles that day. The game matches the national professional champions, the Chicago Bears, against the National league All-Stars.

Shaughnessy likewise will have Stanford at the pro game, but Jones has a different reason for sending his boys to the affair. The Bears use the same T-formation that Stanford employs.

HOPP RETURNS TODAY.

Pheonix, Ariz., Dec. 25 (AP).—Coach Lawrence [Biff] Jones had two reasons to thank Santa Claus tonight—clear weather and the report by the Nebraska football team's physician that Half Back Harry Hopp would be sufficiently recovered from influenza tomorrow to join his teammates in practice.

Despite a rain-soaked field, the Nebraskans went thru offensive drills in preparation for meeting Stanford's Rose bowl-bound eleven.

It was slow going for the most part, but Jones said he was certain he would have a fast field tomorrow. He still is concentrating on offensive timing, apparently believing that his stalwarts, with rigorous training in fundamentals, can hold their own with Clark Shaughnessy's rejuvenated T formation.

After a turkey dinner, with Chancellor and Mrs. C. S. Boucher of the University of Nebraska as honored guests, the squad took a sight seeing tour thru the Salt river valley.

RAMS OFF FOR DALLAS.

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Fordham's football squad of 31 players left tonight for Dallas to play Texas A. & M. in the Cotton bowl game on New Year's day. The Rams are due in Dallas Friday morning in time to hold a brief workout the same day and will settle down to serious practice on the scene on Saturday.

Loyola, DePaul Facing Trouble in Twin Games

College Basketball

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Bradley Tech, 33; Yale, 29.

GAMES TONIGHT.
Illinois vs. Manhattan, New York.
Nebraska at California.

Strong opposition will confront Loyola and DePaul in their basketball double header in the Coliseum tomorrow night. Yale will play Loyola in one game and the Butler five will meet DePaul in the other.

Yale has one of the strongest teams in the east and its lineup includes two star forwards, Capt. Johny Cobb and Bert Ingley, who were named on several all-star selections last season. Another veteran is Chuck Seelbach, at guard, who won a starting post as a sophomore last year.

Butler, which always comes up with a good team, has a quintet this season which has broken even with Western conference foes in four games. The Bulldogs defeated Ohio State, 51 to 49, and Northwestern, 32 to 31, and lost to Indiana and Michigan, the former by 39 to 36 and the latter by 32 to 25.

Against Yale Loyola hopes to revive some of the scoring power showed in its triumph over Arkansas State, in which the Ramblers scored 72 points, a record for any Loyola team.

DePaul will be playing its first game since its triumph over Purdue, a victory which is a danger signal to any quintet the Blue Demons have on their schedule.

9 p. m.—McKinley vs. DuSable.

The University of Chicago's 23d annual high school basketball tournament will be resumed today in the Midway fieldhouse. Waller and Austin will open the progam of eight games at 1 o'clock following the day of rest given the players to greet Santa Claus yesterday.

The games Monday and Tuesday brought to an end a preliminary round which was added to the meet this year because all 40 members of the Chicago Public School league were entered. Previously, the tournament had been restricted to 32 quintets.

Win Preliminary Games.

Waller gained the right to appear in the first round against Austin by defeating Englewood, 51 to 24, Monday. Austin triumphed over Phillips, 27 to 20, on the same program. Von Steuben and Morgan Park, which meet in the second game on today's card, also triumphed on Monday, Von Steuben whipping Medill, 34 to 19, and Morgan Park defeating Lindblom, 32 to 27.

Lane Tech, Tuley, Foreman and Steinmetz were victors in the Tuesday qualifying games. Lane Tech won from South Shore, 45 to 22; Tuley defeated Farragut, 37 to 20; Foreman triumphed over Schurz, 33 to 16, and Steinmetz whipped Bowen, 27 to 16.

FENWICK MEET OPENS

The second annual Fenwick preseason junior basketball tournament will open tonight in Fenwick gym, 525 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, with eight of the 16 competing teams meeting in four first round games starting at 7 o'clock.

Mount Carmel, defending champion, will meet Holy Trinity in the third game on the card. On the Carmel team, in addition to many speedy youngsters, is John Kempfer, who won the most valuable player award in the St. George tourney which closed Monday evening.

The term junior tourney means that players who compete in the meet are under 5 feet 8 inches in height.

Four more first round games will be played tomorrow night; quarter-finals Saturday evening; semi-finals on Sunday, and championship and third place games Monday evening. The first round schedule:

GAMES TONIGHT.
7:00—St. Philip vs. De Paul.
8:00—Fenwick vs. St. Michael.
9:00—Mount Carmel vs. Holy Trinity.
10:00—St. George vs. De La Salle.

GAMES TOMORROW.
7:00—St. Ignatius vs. St. Mel.
8:00—St. Patrick vs. Loyola.
9:00—Leo vs. Weber.
10:00—Joliet vs. St. Mary's of Woodstock, Ill.

WEATHER DEFERS C. Y. O. ICE DERBY IN GARFIELD PARK

The sixth annual Catholic Youth Organization ice skating derby, scheduled for Sunday in Garfield park, was postponed last night after a conference between Pete Miller, president of the Illinois Skating association, and Chicago Park district officials. Miller decided an evening in January would be more appropriate because of the weather.

Skating stars, who would have competed in the derby, first of a dozen to be held this season, have been invited to St. Louis to participate in the Silver Skates indoor events. Among them are Leo Freisinger, national indoor and outdoor champion and North American title holder; Vic Ronchetti, state champion; Lowell Miller, Western open titlist; Bernie Cannata and Genevieve Sweirkos, last season's Chicago Tribune Silver Skates champion, and Mrs. Elaine Bogda Gordon, Bob Hackenbach and George Spalten of the Northwest S. C.

The city championships, sponsored by the Northwest Skating club, still are scheduled for next Wednesday in Humboldt park.

Infielder Hughes, Burned in Accident, Recovered

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—Roy Hughes, former infielder for the Indians, Browns and Phillies, reported from Cincinnati today that he has recovered from burns suffered in a recent accident in his home in the Ohio city. Hughes is the property of Montreal, Brooklyn's No. 1 farm club.

Two Eastern Stars Injured in Scrimmage

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Christmas was a day of bumps, bruises and illness for eastern football stars practicing to meet western rivals in the annual East-West charity game in San Francisco on New Year's day.

Coaches Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman sent the easterners thru a stiff scrimmage at Berkeley, which saw two outstanding half backs, Francis Reagan of Pennsylvania, and George Muha of Carnegie Tech, temporarily put out of action.

The most serious casualty, however, was Forest Evashevski, captain and blocking back of the 1940 Michigan team. Evashevski was confined to his hotel bed with a severe cold and Coach Kerr said he was worried over the possibility the player may have a case of influenza.

Paffrath Carries Load.

Evashevski is the hard hitter who cleared the way for many of Tom Harmon's runs during the last season. Bob Paffrath, Minnesota quarter back, carried the entire blocking load during the scrimmage session against the Oakland Giants, a professional team.

Muha and Reagan received kicks, the former in the arm and Reagan in the leg. Coach Kerr said X-ray pictures would be taken of Muha's arm altho he expressed belief the injury was not serious. Reagan's leg injury was considered only minor, but he was removed from the scrimmage as soon as it occurred.

The opposing team mustered only eight men, so players from the east squad filled in the vacant positions. The east was on offense thruout the session with the attack confined chiefly to running with the ball due to the rain soaked field.

Harmon Up to Old Tricks.

Harmon got off one touchdown run of fifty yards. Dave Allerdice of Princeton, George Kracum of Pittsburgh, and Red Hahnenstein of Northwestern, all received coaching commendations for impressive back field performances.

In contrast to the lively eastern workout, the western players had a tame indoor session at their Palo Alto headquarters. Heavy rain kept the squad inside and coaches Orin [Babe] Hollingbery and Matty Bell were displeased at the idea of their men being forced to wear tennis slippers while running thru abbreviated versions of plays.

MASTERSON, BEAR STAR, SIGNS TO COACH AT UCLA

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25 (AP).—Bernie Masterson, Chicago Bears quarter back and one-time University of Nebraska star, last night signed a contract as back field coach of the University of California at Los Angeles football team.

Masterson, here with the bears for the game Sunday against the national league all-stars, will replace Jim Blewett, former Los Angeles public school system athletic director, who is returning to that position.

Masterson is credited with some of the success Stanford university acquired this year. Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the Indians had Masterson tutor his quarter back, Frankie Albert, in ball handling and generalship under the T formation Shaughnessy installed after his arrival from Chicago.

Veteran Sox and Cubs' Scoreboard Operator Dies

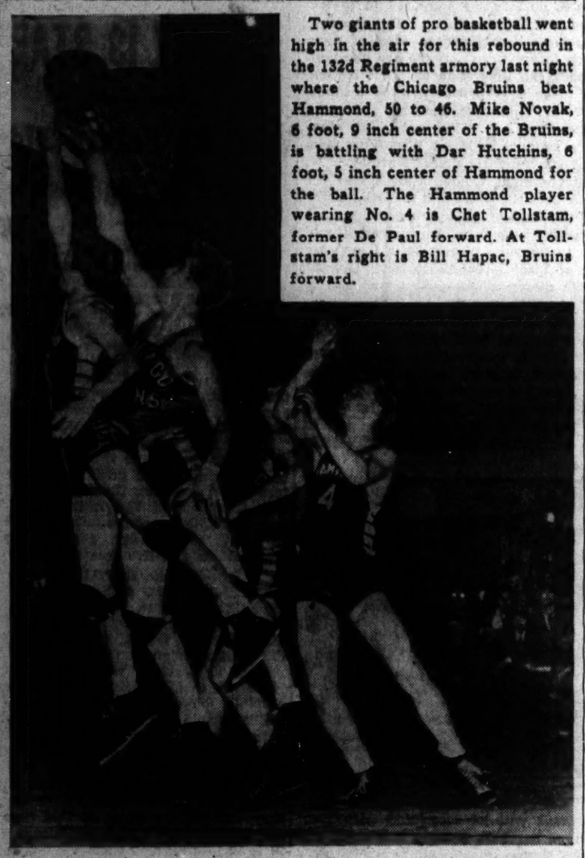
Funeral services will be held Saturday for Charles Taubman, 64 years old, operator of the score boards at the White Sox and Cubs parks for the last 45 years. Mr. Taubman, who also had been employed in the Tribune rotogravure plant during the last 15 years, died Tuesday in the Garfield Park Community hospital. He is survived by his widow, six children, two grandchildren, one brother, and two sisters. The funeral services at 1:30 Saturday, will be held from the funeral home at 4325 Armitage avenue. Burial will be in Concordia cemetery.

Ruffy Silverstein Throws Two More Opponents

Ruffy Silverstein kept his winning streak intact by tossing Rufus Jones and Al Williams last night in wrestling matches in the Rainbo Fronton arena. Jones lasted 25 minutes, but Williams was downed in 2 minutes 4 seconds. Other results:

Jim McMillen threw Pete Schu [20:41]; Dizzy Davis teased Bill Canny [20:41]; Rudy Kay threw Dale Haddock [19:42]; Gene Boaman and Fred Grubmier drew [30:00].

They Sail Thru the Air—



Two giants of pro basketball went high in the air for this rebound in the 132d Regiment armory last night where the Chicago Bruins beat Hammond, 50 to 46. Mike Novak, 6 foot, 9 inch center of the Bruins, is battling with Dar Hutchins, 6 foot, 5 inch center of Hammond for the ball. The Hammond player wearing No. 4 is Chet Tollstam, former De Paul forward. At Tollstam's right is Bill Hapac, Bruins forward.

Riggs Elected Co-Captain of North Eleven

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 25 (AP).—North and south squads picked their captains today and disregarded a steady rain to drive thru rehearsals for Saturday's third annual Blue and Gray football game.

The Yankee squad of players from northern schools chose Cornell's Walter Matuszczak and Tom Riggs of Illinois as leaders while the south team named Paul Severin from North Carolina and Ken Whitlow of Rice. All four were captains or co-captains of their college teams.

An expanded program of sports events, built around the football game and the south's traditional fancy for guns and dogs, will open tomorrow with the first annual Blue and Gray skeet shoot.

Tomorrow night the 44 members of the two football squads will have an experience new to many of them when they follow the music of baying hounds in one of Dixie's best loved sports, a fox hunt.

The fanfare will reach a climax Saturday in a pregame parade including some 1,500 musicians and passing by the old statehouse where Jefferson Davis took the oath as first president of the confederate states.

The North-South match was founded in this first capital of the confederacy three years ago by Montgomery's late mayor, W. A. [Pardner] Gunter, as a demonstration that "old wounds between the Blue and the Gray have healed and a new friendship now flourishes."

A Suggestion.

When you are choosing colors for the All-Stars' uniforms next summer be sure there is a sharp contrast with the Bears' colors. With Clark Shaughnessy coaching the All-Stars in the same offense as the Bears employ, 85,000 fans will go daffy trying to tell which team is which unless the colors are distinct.

Wright and Wilson Lead Junior Vote

Chicago's two city junior colleges, Wright and Wilson, won more than half the positions on the 1940 Illinois Junior college conference all-star football team, selected by coaches and sports writers and announced yesterday.

Wilson, the south side conference champions, monopolized the left side of the line and also captured the full back post. Wright, the northwest side team that tied Wilson, captured three positions, end, guard, and half back.

La Salle-Peru, St. Procopius, and Morgan Park were also represented on the first string eleven.

Hansen, Podmajersky Lead.

Jim Hansen, Wright half back, and Paul Podmajersky, Wilson full back, led the voting for back field positions. Hansen, a graduate of Schurz High school, is Wright's freshman star and most valuable player. His accurate passing and his shifty ball carrying, reminiscent of Tom Harmon, led Wright to four victories and one tie in seven games. His defensive playing also is brilliant.

Podmajersky, Wilson's stocky full back, effectively bolstered his team's defense and offense by his outstanding line backing, plunging, and blocking.

Bane Travis, La Salle-Peru's outstanding triple threat back, was the third choice for back field honors. His team's most valuable, he averaged five yards a try for the season. But his teammate, Julius Spreit, accurate center passer and offensive star, took top voting honors as the most unanimous choice. Travis and Spreit are co-captains.

Wilson's monopoly on the left side of the line includes John Dixon, colored end; George Myrick, tackle, and Capt. Sid Fisher, guard. Fisher, blocking, kicking, and defensive star, was voted Wilson's most valuable. He called signals for the champs.

De Febo Leads Guards.

Wright's captain, Joe De Febo, captured the other guard position, as the fourth highest vote getter. He was a teammate of Bill De Correvont on Austin High's famous city title team. He is an outstanding blocker, always was in there closing holes.

Bob Devine, Wright's defensive star and pass receiver, ran away with the right end post.

Jim Apostolas, 260 pound St. Procopius tackle, completes the line. He scored the winning points for his team against Morgan Park when he recovered a fumble in the end zone.

Don Hayn, bulwark of Morgan Park's defense and offense, is a blocking and passing quarter back. At 18 years, he is one of the youngest members of the all-stars.

BRADLEY DEALS YALE ITS FIRST DEFEAT, 33 TO 29

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 25 [Special].—A basket by Lloyd Bortel and two free throws by Jimmy O'Brien gave Bradley a 33 to 29 victory over Yale tonight. It was Yale's first defeat this season.

The Eli threw up a stubborn zone defense and finally tied the score at 29-all, with about three minutes remaining, but Bortel scored on a fast break, and O'Brien added the gift tosses.

After a sloppy first half marred by bad passing and many traveling violations, Bradley pulled away in the final period only to have to rally to take the decision.

STAGG WILL GET TOUCHDOWN CLUB AWARD ON JAN. 9

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—Amos Alonzo Stagg, known to millions as the grand old man of football, today was announced as the winner of the Touchdown club award for 1940 in recognition of his outstanding permanent contributions to football.

The award will be presented at the club's annual banquet Jan. 9. The 78 year old College of Pacific coach will be in New York for the football coaches' convention and will remain over to receive the award that went to William S. Langford, veteran official and member of the rules committee, last year and was made posthumously in 1938 to Leroy N. Miles for his teachings and writings on kicking.

TABLES TURNED; RED WINGS BEAT TORONTO, 3 TO 2

Eddie Wares' 3d Period Goal Decides Game.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 25 (AP).—The revamped Detroit Red Wings played vicious, close-checking hockey tonight to gain their first National league victory of the season over the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 2, before 8,520.

Eddie Wares, playing on a newly formed line with Alex Motter and Sid Abel, rammed home two Detroit goals, including the decisive one in the third period. The Leafs routed Detroit in two previous games.

The Red Wings found victory costly. Joe Carveth, young forward, suffered a probable fracture of the left leg when he collided with Hank Goldup of the Leafs in the second period. Carveth was out of play most of last season with a similar break. Lineups:

How to Dance on Ice Skates Told by Sonja

BY SONJA HENIE.
[From "Wings on My Feet."]

[Sonja Henie, three time Olympic games figure skating champion, movie queen, and star of her Hollywood ice revue which opens in the Stadium tonight, gives tips on figure skating in this fourth of a series of excerpts from her recent book.]

When you have mastered the four edges, you will be well on the way to the graceful waltz, because their is only one more fundamental figure to be learned in order to dance on ice. That is "forward outside threes to a center," which I shall describe.

The figure consists of two threes, facing each other as the lobes of the eight face a common center.

You start the figure as you did the forward outside edge, except that shoulders are squared.

Using the Shoulders.

From quarter mark the shoulders begin turning. At the half the left shoulder is forced far around, with the right pressed back. The trunk remains as at start.

In making the turn at middle of the lobe, the skating knee straightens. Simultaneously with untwisting of the shoulders, bring left foot close to heel of skating foot, and, as body turns, draw it away from skating foot as in back inside edge. In turning, the blade goes over to inside edge, and lobe is completed on this edge, with knee again bent.

Fun—If You Can Do It.

Be careful that left hip, foot and toe remain well turned out. As the turn is made, check free arm to see it keeps in line with tracing, on inside of circle. Skating shoulder should be lower than unemployed sh

PUSH MIDWEST FIGHT FOR FULL SHARE OF ARMS

Private Surveys Aid in Getting Orders.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 24. — A glimpse of the uncertainties in the minds of some small business men over the defense industrial program and their part in it is reflected in the experiences of those working to decentralize defense production in the middle western states.

When the Mid-Central War Resources board, formed under direction of the mayors of Kansas City and three surrounding towns, was organized it sent letters to 85 manufacturers explaining how it hoped to help small industrialists get defense contracts, and asked for their opinions.

One replied: "This is the first sign of intelligence connected with any government procurement plan that we have yet come in contact with." Another said the program was the means of helping correct a dangerous situation, adding: "We are losing our experienced men to aircraft engine plants located elsewhere, and now the eastern firms even want to buy our equipment."

Promote Assembly Plants.

This depopulation of men and machines largely was responsible for the efforts toward establishment of aircraft and other assembly plants in the middlewest where parts made in many small establishments would be assembled into needed war craft. The Mid-Central War Resources board, which is surveying plants in Kansas and Western Missouri, is cooperating in this decentralization program with chambers of commerce in Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

Members of the Kansas City chamber of commerce and the war resources board have made many trips to Washington, D. C., in their efforts to get contracts, factories, or any type of defense spending for the involved area. Before his appointment as a member of the national defense advisory commission, J. C. Nichols, Kansas City real estate man, also went to the capital as one of a delegation of local business men. Nichols asserted that as a member of the commission he was not acting as a sectional representative.

Assists Middle West.

Others in Kansas City, however, credited his point of view, at least, with being helpful to the middle west. One observer cited the fact that the policy of awarding split contracts, in which a small producer can bid for only a portion of a large order, had Nichols' support. Small producers who would not otherwise be able to do so are thus enabled to share in defense production.

Another policy whose adoption had Nichols' support was that of issuing F. O. B. contracts, which allow middle western bidders to compete with eastern contractors. They could not do so if they paid freight charges to an eastern delivery point, it was said. Help for Missouri in its effort to get defense business also was ascribed to Senator Harry Truman, Democrat.

Kansas City's primary defense contracts so far are only $8,000,000, but the community figures that other gains less easily stated in millions will in the long run be more important. Heading the list was the transfer of the St. Louis quartermaster depot to Kansas City. The government spent $1,400,000 for 15 acres, sidetracks, buildings, etc., and Kansas City businessmen expect to sell millions of dollars' worth of goods to the army yearly thru this depot.

Other Plums Received.

Establishment of the $18,000,000 small arms plant at Lake City, near Kansas City, is another plum. Remington Arms will operate this plant, and already has a $73,000,000 order. In addition there is the airplane assembly plant at Fairfax field on the Kansas City, Kas., side which is the culmination of the assembly plant idea. Other similar plants are being established at Omaha, Neb., Tulsa, Okla., and Dallas, Tex.

Some business men believe the assembly plant idea will spread thruout the United States and include tanks as well as planes. Surveys to show the capacities of the industries in any assembly plant area are necessary preliminaries.

The Mid-Central War Resources board's first survey was made on men's clothing and uniform manufacturing, and on the basis of a recapitulation of this data the smallest plants as well as some of the bigger ones are said to have landed contracts.

Survey Other Plants.

The same sort of study, to show the number and type of machines, was made on structural and machine tool plants, woodwork plants, food plants, and others. As soon as the surveys were completed the data was sent to Nichols' department in Washington, according to Lou Holland, president of the board.

A federal official is expected in Kansas City, Jan. 6, to go into the plan further. The questionnaires used in the survey have been sent to Washington, and this brought a query as to whether there would be objection to using them elsewhere in the United States. Kansas Citians believe this foreshadows use of the decentralization plan on a wider scale.

Warren Blazier, commissioner of the aviation division of the Kansas City Chamber of commerce, presented an insight into the attitude of middle westerners in their efforts to get defense business.

"We are faced with a serious problem of decreasing population," he said. "Lay it to the dust bowl or the drouth or whatever you will, the fact remains if we had jobs for the people they would stay here. We have a strategic location for airplane factories, and other assembly plants. The west coast plane factories began two years ago to drain our mechanics —at one time it was estimated 200 were leaving Kansas City alone each week.

Easterners Learn Geography.

"When we first set out to get more industry we found that to easterners the area east of Toledo meant the middle west. They thought we had no facilities, and that our farm boys couldn't do the work."

"It is our contention that unless the defense program is carried out in such areas as this, the post-boom period will find defense ghost towns. That would not be the case here, for we would not expect to have more than a small percentage of our industry turned to defense operations."

Blazier said that the Kansas City industrial area, which includes Jackson, Clay, and Platte counties in Missouri, and Wyandotte and Johnson counties in Kansas, and which has a population of about 629,000, can absorb new or expanded industries employing 3 to 5 per cent of the population, or a maximum of about 31,450, without having to build abnormal facilities. Any more than that would throw the community out of balance, and foreshadow post-boom troubles, he said.

Surveys Miss Many Plants.

One fact emerges from the experiences of middle western business men. It is that, despite 20 years of surveys by army and navy buying agencies, hundreds of small producers thruout the nation have not been surveyed. One observer said the war department in his area had the men, money and time to survey only $50,000 or larger establishments.

Another man familiar with the situation said that in some cases the war department's surveys are 10 or 12 years old, and that in one instance a plant is three times as large as it was when surveyed. A number of middle western cities have taken steps to survey their own industries, and present the facts to the government.

YATES-AMERICAN.

Can you tell me what is the position of Yates-American first mortgage bonds?—G. B.

Answer: Yates-American Machine company, Beloit, Wis., has outstanding approximately $1,000,000 of first mortgage bonds due Oct. 1, 1944. Interest is payable April and Oct. 1 each year on a sliding scale.

The present fixed rate of 4½ per cent will continue until March 31, 1943, and thereafter will be 5½ per cent to the maturity date. Additional interest is payable from available net income up to a total of 6½ per cent a year, including the fixed interest. The fixed interest is cumulative but the additional interest is cumulative only if it is earned.

The bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the company's property and by a pledge of certain securities. The issue is considered speculative because the company was unable to earn its full interest requirements in three of the last five years following reorganization in 1935.

The company's coverage of interest charges in fiscal years ended June 30 follows:

	Income available for interest.	Interest charges.
1936	$17,756	$31,631
1937	58,609	41,456
1938	*10,498	46,050
1939	*25,929	43,186
1940	64,412	63,244

*Deficit.

Yates-American Machine manufactures wood working machinery, automotive radiators, and various types of refrigerating and air conditioning equipment.

TEMPORARY EMPLOYES.

In our company we occasionally want to hire temporary help for a week or two, or to take some workers on trial before adding them to our permanent pay roll. Do these workers have to obtain social security numbers and do we have to pay social security taxes on their wages—J. M. S.

Answer: All persons employed in commercial, industrial, and other occupations covered by the social security law are required to have social security numbers, and social security taxes must be paid on the basis of their wages whether their work is temporary or permanent.

HEAD-END TRAFFIC.

What is head-end traffic?—R. O.

Answer: "Head-end" traffic includes mail, express, newspapers, and milk in cans usually carried by railroads in cars nearest the locomotive.

CHICAGO BANKS LOAN 1½ BILLION IN SIX MONTHS

Forty-two Chicago banks made 160,113 loans amounting to $1,496,110,456 during the first six months of 1940, the American Bankers association announced yesterday on the basis of its semiannual survey of bank lending activity.

The total was divided into 112,003 new loans for $1,092,527,515, renewals of 46,297 loans aggregating $389,946,434, and 1,813 new mortgage loans amounting to $13,636,507. In a survey made public a year ago, 33 Chicago banks reported they had made 81,192 new loans totaling $947,743,523 and 43,571 renewals aggregating $400,214,476 during the six months. Thus, an exact comparison is not available.

Only Part of Credit Used.

In the greater Chicago area, the survey showed, 19 banks maintained $437,600,600 in open lines of credit during the 1940 period, of which $107,477,844, or 24.6 per cent, was actually used by business organizations.

Illinois banks participating in the survey numbered 393, or 46 per cent of the state's 852 commercial banks. The 393 made 480,581 loans totaling $1,730,883,313, divided into 296,672 new loans of $1,214,059,755, renewals of 178,544 loans amounting to $490,616,955, and 5,365 new mortgage loans totaling $26,206,603. The survey for the same months last year showed that 275 banks made 193,782 new loans totaling $1,024,297,091, renewed 143,250 outstanding loans aggregating $476,839,413, and made 3,707 new mortgage loans totaling $15,556,825.

Illinois Average Higher.

The Illinois banks made an average of 775 new loans during the six months, for an average of $4,092 compared with 705 and $5,286 a year ago.

Sixty-two banks in the larger Illinois cities reported that regular borrowers used $117,536,189, or 25.4 per cent, of $462,133,345 carried on the banks' books as open lines of credit. Reports of 36 banks last year showed that 21 per cent of such credit was used.

For the entire country, 6,203 banks, or 43.3 per cent of all commercial banks, reported 7,331,097 new loans totaling $12,253,628,581; 6,134,178 renewals amounting to $8,246,301,835, and 177,398 new mortgage loans aggregating $453,653,612 for the six month period.

MEDITERRANEAN WAR RISK RATES SLASHED AGAIN

New York, Dec. 25 [Special].—Marine war risk rates on shipments to and from Mediterranean and nearby ports have been reduced further as a result of Italy's unsuccessful attempts to control that area, underwriters announced today. The new rate schedule, however, excludes shipments to or from French or Italian possessions.

Rates on exports to Alexandria via the Suez canal and Red sea ports via the Cape of Good Hope, which were quoted at $10 per $100 cargo, were reduced to $7.50. For Portugal, Spanish Atlantic ports and Gibraltar, the rate on both exports and imports by United States flag vessels was reduced from $2 to $1.50.

Value of Securities Sales 991 Millions in November

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission reported today that total sales on all registered securities exchanges of the United States for November had a market value of $991,058,123, an increase of 40.3 per cent over October, and 1.2 per cent over November, 1939.

FREIGHT CAR LOADINGS.

Railroad car loadings reported yesterday include:

	Wk. ended Dec. 21.	Same wk. 1939.	Wk. ended Dec. 14 1940.

States Unite to Assist U. S. in Arms Drive

Problems of defense requiring national unity resulted in an "unprecedented" degree of interstate activity during 1940, Frank Bane, executive director of the Council of State Governments, said yesterday.

After the governors' conference pledged the "agricultural, industrial, and military" resources of the states to the national defense program, the states took steps to assist the federal government in establishing the division of state and local coöperation of the defense advisory commission, he recalled.

Prepare Model Legislation.

"Model state laws dealing with sabotage, control of explosives, protection of public properties, and mobilization of state home guards have been drafted by a federal-state conference on law enforcement problems and national defense," Bane said. "These bills are being presented to state legislatures thruout the country by their commissions on interstate coöperation."

The campaign against interstate trade barriers was continued effectively during 1940, he asserted, with many regional meetings of state officials called to deal with specific problems.

Cancel Hampering Laws.

At least 20 states negotiated agreements canceling laws that hampered the interstate movement of passenger cars, such as those imposing discriminatory fees and regulations, he said.

After years of effort, an international commission of representatives from Canada and the United States has been established, Bane reported, and is developing a program for the preservation and development of Great Lakes fisheries.

English Markets Forego Observance of Boxing Day

New York, Dec. 25 (AP).—All of the world's commodity and security exchanges today closed for the observance of Christmas. While markets in the United States will return to regular business schedules tomorrow, English markets, which traditionally observe Boxing day on Dec. 26, will forego the holiday this year and observe Christmas day only. [Boxing day is a legal holiday when boxes are given to postmen and others.] In Winnipeg, however, the grain exchange will not open until Friday.

LOST AND FOUND.

TO FINDERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner thru the "Lost and Found" advertisements in The Tribune, call and go thru the "Lost and Found" index in the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN-STREET.

TO LOSERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory, you can charge an advertisement of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of The Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisement receives the benefit of free listing in The Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.
